Spring Grove Cemetery is Andover's public cemetery

The business of being buried

By Don Staruk

Some of the best real estate in town is still available, comes with a landscape maintenance crew and is fairly inexpensive, but you have to be dead to get at it.

If Spring Grove Cemetery isn't the prettiest cemetery around, it's one of the prettiest, according to Jim Bamford, forester in charge of the only town-owned graveyard.

"There are many, many people who feel that Spring Grove is the prettiest in the area," Mr. Bamford said this week.

Bellevue Cemetery, on Tower Hill in Lawrence, would be the nicest cemetery by far if it were kept up, according to Mr. Bamford. But after that would come Spring Grove and West Parish cemeteries in Andover, and Ridgewood Cemetery in Barbara Calnan checks on the flowers that line the walkway of her home at 78 Main St., where she lives with her husband, Richard Calnan. Mrs. Calnan, founder of the Andover Herb Society six or seven years ago, brought that group from five or six members to a current 40. She learned to garden from her grandmother, who was English. This Andover garden is an English cottage garden, about 40 by 15 feet, and it is perennials, mostly lilies, with a border of annuals. Mrs. Calnan, who had cancer last year, says her garden is her therapy. She is fine today, she says, and is the founder of several cancer-support groups.

Getting a head start

By Betsy Frankenberger

Located in the Unitarian Universalist Church on Locke Street, Summer Start is celebrating its first summer. The program benefits 30 Lawrence underprivileged children and is modeled after the national Head Start program.

Last winter, Jerry Bayer, coordinator and UU church member, got together with other members of the UU church and tried to figure ways to address the needs of the inner-city kids in the area. This was at a time when there were no summer enrichment programs in Lawrence for students under age 6.

After much planning and support from the UU church and other local organizations belonging to the Greater Lawrence Community Foundation, Ms. Bayer was able to raise enough money to launch a six-week Summer Start program.

Every day a school bus drops off 30 preschoolers from Lawrence who are eager to go outside and explore nature.

"There is a large emphasis on the outdoors," says Ms. Bayer. "Some of these children never even visited a playground. There are so many of (the playgrounds) in Lawrence that are not kept up."

Shooting gold in the Bay State Games

By Don Staruk

Stuart Mackey took aim at gold and hit during the Bay State Games in Cambridge on July 19.

Mr. Mackey, 18, of 37 Sagamore Road, competed in marksmanship competition of the games, which took place in Boston and Cambridge July 16-19. Mr. Mackey competed at Massachusetts Institute of Technology on Sunday, July 19.

He took gold in the air rifle, off-hand match, and had a fifth-place finish in the 22-caliber, small bore, three-position match.

The challenge in the air rifle contest was to take 40 shots at a target from a standing position 33 feet away. Each shot has a maximum possible of 10 points, for a possible perfect score of 400 points. Mr. Mackey scored 307 to take gold in the Junior Olympic competition.

For the small bore rifle competition, he shot 60 times, in prone, standing and kneeling positions from 50 feet, and scored 464 out of a possible 600 for the fifth-place finish.

Mr. Mackey has his own Winchester 52, 22-caliber, single-shot, bolt-action rifle with micrometer peep sights, which he said is "pretty old."

"The heavier the gun is, the stabler you're going to be," said Mr. Mackey, whose rifle weighs 12 pounds. "I can get the wobble to stop for about two seconds. You've got to get your breathing and your trigger control down. If you get those all together, and your breathing where you can stop it, you can put the bullet right in the center all the time."

He borrowed a gun for the air rifle competition. The air rifle uses compressed air to shoot a pellet.

"It's a lot more challenging than the 22," Mr. Mackey said, "because if you're just a little off, you're way off. It's just much more difficult."

He has a shooting jacket that looks like a heavy duty black straight jacket with adjustable straps to restrict movement, which "makes the wobble of the gun slow down." But Mr. Mackey said he could use a lot more, much higher quality, gear, but that will have to wait until he earns more money. The gun he would like to get, a German Anschütz 1913, costs about $2,000.

Mr. Mackey started shooting about nine years ago, "just plinking for fun."

His parents, Richard and Joann, support his shooting hobby. His twin brothers, Stephen and Allen, 13, shoot "a little bit," but are not into it the way he is, Mr. Mackey said.

His father hunted a little bit when he was young, for elk out west with a rifle and for pheasant around here with a shotgun, and the younger Mackey was always interested in the guns.

Here, Stuart Mackey wears his Bay State Games jacket while showing how he shoots.

He has also hunted for deer, although he's never even shot at one, and he's shot one pheasant with a shotgun. But he's more into the competition of target shooting. While his father is not a believer in the National Rifle Association, the younger Mackey is a member.

Last year, someone from the Reading club came to the Andover Sportsman's Club and asked if anyone was interested in shooting competition. Mr. Mackey jumped at the chance. He qualified for the games by scoring well in a 50-yard, three-position match at the Reading Revolver Club.

"I qualified by shooting one of the top 10 scores," he said.

With the Bay State Games behind him, Mr. Mackey is looking to move on in the sport. One of his goals is to attend a shooting camp at the National Guard Armory in Reading in August, which could qualify him to attend the Olympic training center in Colorado Springs.

"My goal is to go to the Olympic training center. Hopefully, we'd like to make it to the Olympics one of these days," Mr. Mackey said.

He has one more year he can compete in the Bay State Games as a Junior Olympian, then he will compete as an adult. Mr. Mackey figures he may have a shot at the Summer Olympics by the year 2000.

The 6-foot, 3-inch Mr. Mackey also practices archery and takes part in numerous outdoor sports including canoeing, kayaking, rock climbing, hiking and camping, and assists in leading groups on outdoor adventures for the the Adventure Center in Merrimac.

He also runs and says running helps him control his breathing and reduce his pulse rate for steadier shooting.

Mr. Mackey graduated Andover High School in May and will attend the University of Massachusetts at Lowell in the fall where he will major in criminal justice. He is earning money for college and his sports equipment working at Lund's Service station on South Main Street and at Video Viewpoint in Ballardvale.

NEWS IN BRIEF

FinCom has 3 new members

By Don Staruk

James D. Doherty, town moderator, appointed three new members to the Finance Committee this week.

"I've been working on them for a while," Mr. Doherty said Monday.

The three appointees are Gerald T. Mulligan, 36 Smithshire Estates, president of Andover Bank; Thomas E. Fardy, 8 William St., a certified public accountant with the firm of Topham Fardy & Co. on Essex Street; and Anthony Sakowich, 36 Oriole Drive, president of Saxon Manufacturing Co. in North Andover.

Fred Stott, Ed Weil and Peter Volpe all left the nine-member committee at the end of their terms, which ended June 30. Mr. Stott served two three-year terms on the committee; Mr. Weil served one term; and Mr. Volpe has been on the board for 12 years.

The town moderator is the appointing authority for the FinCom, according to the town charter.

The alleged incest case of former Andover Police Lt. Donald Mooers Jr. was continued in Salem Superior court last Thursday, July 23, to Aug. 31 for a status report, according to Steve O'Connell, spokesman for the Essex County district attorney's office.

Mr. Mooers, 51, of Hampton, N.H., was a 23-year veteran of the Andover police department when he abruptly retired on Dec. 17, one day before he was secretly indicted on six charges of incest. He is free on his personal recognizance. The case has been continued seven times since Mr. Mooers' arraignment on the charges on Jan. 6.

Town to be people-oriented in 21st century

By Don Staruk

Selectmen Monday night continued to work on their vision and mission statement intended to guide the town into the 21st century, sifting through input they gathered from the "mini town meetings" held earlier this year for direction.

Although they are still awaiting input from the heads of all town departments, Larry Larsen, the board member who first suggested the project, said the general direction of the statement is beginning to emerge.

"I think it will be a people-oriented type of thing," Dr. Larsen said.

Monday night's meeting at the water treatment plant on Lowell Street was the board's second work session on the 21st century project. Members began by making a kind of wish list from the many comments made during the mini town meetings, which were held at elementary schools in town earlier this year. Those comments, and other input from residents, will be the driving forces in forming the vision statement, according to Dr. Larsen.

Buzz Stapeczynski, town manager, will arrange meetings with town department heads over the next couple months for more input on the direction they would like to see their departments moving.

"It's a very fascinating process. It's an exciting enterprise," Dr. Larsen said. "It's down right fun."

Dr. Larsen said the process is already shaping the town's capital improvement planning. He hopes the board will have the vision and mission statement completed by late fall.

Blood drive set for Aug. 10

An American Red Cross blood drive will be held Monday, Aug. 10, from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Masonic Lodge, 7 High St.

To be eligible to donate blood, a person must be at least 18 years old (17 years old with a signed Red Cross parental/guardian consent form), weigh at least 105 pounds, be in general good health and have no history of hepatitis.

For more information, call Bud Crowninshield at 689-9449.

Bus seats are filling up

Seats on school buses for secondary and Shawsheen School students this fall are filling up. The deadline to register and pay the $210 fee has passed, but Carol Znamierowski, transportation director for the community, said there are still some seats available.

Openings will diminish as she begins mapping routes. Parents should apply in person at the second-floor business office of the School Administration Building on Whittier Court.

The office said recently that it had received 800 applications, which represents approximately $158,000. According to Frank Paul, school business manager, the department must receive $175,000 to cover busing costs.

Bus passes will be ready by the last week of August.

Rep. Coon to hold local office hours next week

Rep. Gary Coon (R-Andover) will hold local hours Thursday, Aug. 6.

Rep. Coon will be in the board room at Lawrence Public Library from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. and Memorial Hall Library from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

For more information, call Rep. Coon's Boston office at (617) 722-2575.

Town to test cholesterol

The Andover Board of Health will hold cholesterol screening clinics Wednesday, Aug. 12, and Sept. 16, from 9 a.m. until noon. An appointment is necessary.

The simple fingerstick test for total cholesterol costs $5 and does not require fasting. The program includes dietary counseling by the public health nurse and referral to your private physician for follow-up care as needed.

For further information or an appointment, call the health department at 470-3800, Ext. 255.

Car phones helping fight crime

By Don Staruk

Car telephones have become a new weapon for police and other public safety officials in fighting crime and responding faster to fire and accident scenes, and their use is increasing.

In June, the state police switchboard in Boston that handles car phone calls from across the state, received 14,091 calls. That compares to 9,288 last June and 7,778 in June of 1990. There are similar increases in the number of calls for every month of the year, according to Sgt. Edward Desmond, desk officer in the state police communications center.

"I'm looking at these numbers and we don't have a minus in any of the numbers," Sgt. Desmond said.

The most famous case so far that involved the use of a car phone was the Charles Stuart call to state police in Boston claiming that he and his wife, Carol, had been shot in the city's Mission Hill section. His wife died and Mr. Stuart later allegedly jumped to his death from the Mystic-Tobin Bridge after he supposedly learned that charges were going to be brought against him for murdering his wife.

Mr. Stuart dialed 911 on his car phone, which rang into the state police switchboard.

Motorists outside Boston can dial "77" to get the switchboard. The call is free of charge.

Some calls have been from people having heart attacks and one reported an armed robbery in progress. One was a call from a man in Boston saying that someone was trying to kill him. Three weeks later someone succeeded and he was found dead.

"We have had live instances where you could hear the gunshots over the phone," the sergeant said.

But all calls are not so dramatic. Most are to report drunk drivers, accidents or medical emergencies.

"Mostly it's a lot of operating unders, we have a lot of those," Sgt. Desmond said.

Two weeks ago, Andover police arrested a man and charged him with operating under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of an accident after they received a call from a car phone. The suspect had allegedly been involved in a hit-and-run accident on Dascomb Road and the other motorist followed the suspect to his residence and called the location in to police.

But police here say it is hard to tell how many calls they get from car phones. The only way they can tell is if the caller says he or she is calling from a car phone.

But Lt. Richard Enos doesn't doubt the car phones help.

"These people reporting accidents and injuries are a big help because you're getting a quicker response. It's a benefit to everybody," he said.

Calls in Andover include a lot of suspicious activities, drunk drivers and other traffic violators, any of which could be from car phones.

"The majority of it is things that are along the roads," said Lt. Phillip Froburg, operations commander. "It certainly, if nothing else, has made it a heck of a lot easier for people to report things."

Calls reporting accidents keep the five cellular lines and two dispatchers at the state police switchboard very busy.

"When an accident happens, the thing lights up like a Christmas tree," Sgt. Desmond said.

A multi-car accident on the expressway will light up the switchboard and keep it lit, he said. The calls allow police to respond faster.

But Sgt. Desmond does have one or two complaints for motorists. "I wish they'd be a little more accurate," he said. "We get 20 to 30 people calling in on the same vehicle when it doesn't turn out to be anything at all."

When people call in a disabled car, they should report if someone is in the car. With accidents, a specific location and whether injuries are involved is important information.

Other people tend to get over zealous and follow traffic offenders, he said. Then they call police back and complain that they aren't responding quick enough. Police would prefer callers don't chase suspect vehicles, the sergeant said.

He also said the phone service shouldn't be misused. "We try to stress for people that call, that this is for emergency use only, not for directions to Hartford," the sergeant said.

Sgt. Desmond says the increase in the use of car phone to report emergencies shows no sign of ebbing, and will probably continue. "I think what's happening is the phones have become more affordable," he said.

CHILDREN AND MOVES

When parents decide it's time for a move, it's important to enroll children into the process. Depending on the reason for and distance of the move, it can create concern that parents may not pick up on right away. It may mean a new school, leaving their favorite playmates and a lot of uncertainty about what the new neighborhood will be like.

Things will be a lot easier if your children support your efforts to get the old house sold. Their help will be important in keeping toys and clothes picked up in their rooms. Teenagers may be especially touchy about strangers invading their space, and they may resist making that space "show well". It will also be important for all family members to be ready to stay quiet and out of the way when the house is being shown. How can you help get the whole family on board? Include everyone in the family in discussions about the move, and invite children to participate in house hunting trips. Work with a Realtor who is comfortable with your children and sensitive to their needs, and stay alert yourselves to meeting their concerns.

Rob Michaels of Chestnut Street returned to Andover in late June after having climbed Mt. Logan, the highest mountain in Canada. Mt. Logan is located in the Yukon Territory, where Mr. Michaels experienced one month of the coldest spring in 20 years.

"Mt. Logan has been climbed less than 100 times successfully, due to ferocious weather conditions," said Mr. Michaels. He told of some of the difficulties he experienced, including a fall into a crevasse.

"There was a hidden trench in a glacier," he said. "It was essentially a 50-foot hole. But I was connected by ropes to my team, so I was OK."

Mr. Michaels explained that the team effort is of crucial importance in mountain climbing. He took part in the excursion with the Merrimac Mountaineering Club. Others of Mr. Michaels' excursions include the Aconcagua in the Andes of Argentina and Mt. Kilimanjaro, the highest point in Africa.

Although Mr. Michaels has rated Mt. Logan as his "most difficult" climbing experience, he said that the biggest problem the team had was getting back to the U.S. after the climb.

"We had to wait almost a week to get our airline tickets changed," he said.

When he's not climbing, Mr. Michaels spends his time in the area as a production manager for Hewlett Packard.

Ms. Gefvert wrote that she keeps up with local news with a Townsmen subscription.

For the past 11 years, Ms. Gefvert, the wife of Bob, worked as an elections official in Andover, where they lived until September 1991. She was elected WAVES National second vice president in 1986. She and her husband married in 1946. She trained at Cedar Falls, Iowa, and served in Great Lakes, Ill. Her husband was an Army Air Force pilot in World War II.

Two mammogram facilities receive ACR accreditation

Two area facilities with mammogram capabilities recently received accreditation by the American College of Radiology. The Hale Hospital in Haverhill and the mammography facility administered by Andover Walk-In Medical Center have been accredited.

The facilities met the necessary requirements, which include a peer review evaluation of the staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs, image quality and breast dose.

Only 3,700 facilities have been accredited nationwide. The accreditation must be renewed every three years. This program was started in response to two major concerns expressed by radiologists, other national medical organizations and the public: 1. that qualified personnel perform and interpret mammograms and 2. that dedicated mammographic equipment be used to ensure that women receive optimum mammographic examinations with the lowest possible risk.

One in nine women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime, according to the latest statistics. Early detection is the key to survival, say doctors. Doctors believe that mammography done in conjunction with breast physical examinations provides the most accurate diagnosis of early breast cancer.

The American College of Radiology, American Cancer Society, American Medical Association and nine other major medical organizations recommend the following guidelines for women without symptoms.

The screening process begin by age 40 and consist of annual clinical examination with screening mammography performed at one- to two-year intervals.

Beginning at age 50, both clinical examination and mammography should be performed on an annual basis.

Realtor installs voice mail

Jean Fitzgerald, president of Century 21 Minuteman Realty, announced that that office has installed a voice mail system. Each Century 21 Minuteman sales associate has a private voice mail number. Customers and clients may call a sales associate's voice mail number directly to leave a detailed and confidential message or call the Century 21 Minuteman office have the option to be connected to the sales associate's voice mail if that person is not in.

"Formerly, sales associates took messages for each other, always presenting the possibility that some messages could fall through the cracks, said Ms. Fitzgerald. "Now all messages are accurate, private, current and as lengthy and detailed as the caller wishes.

"Our sales associates are no longer responsible for each other's messages. A sale associate may check for messages every few minutes if he or she wants, and, if there are no messages, he/she will not incur a toll call (from a car phone, for instance). We are just beginning to realize the possibilities of voice mail."

Raytheon Co. promotes two

Raytheon Co.'s board of directors recently elected Stanley L. Clark and Peter R. D'Angelo as company vice presidents.

Mr. Clark, 48, is group executive for Raytheon's Commercial Electronics Group, having been named to the position in January.

Raytheon's Commercial Electronics Group consists of five Raytheon units: Raytheon Marine Company, Switchcraft Inc., Sorensen Company, Seiscor Technologies Inc., and Semiconductor Division.

Mr. Clark previously had been president of Raytheon Marine Company for nine years. He joined Raytheon in 1977, as Raytheon Marine's manager of marketing operations.

Mr. Clark holds an master of business administration from Adelphi University and a bachelor's degree in business administration from New York University. He and his wife, the former Robin Mulcahy, live in North Andover.

Mr. D'Angelo, 53, is Raytheon's controller, a position he has held since January. He is responsible for directing and advising management on company activities in a number of areas, including accounting, auditing, tax affairs, financial analysis and information processing systems.

Mr. D'Angelo has been with Raytheon since 1962 and served as controller of the Missile Systems Division between 1984 and 1992. He holds a master of business administration degree from Babson College and a bachelor's degree in the same field from Boston College.

His son's illness made this man change professions

Temna's Herb Pharm offers herbs, natural healing remedies

By Neil Fater

When he was about 3 years old, David McMillan's eldest son was struck ill with pneumonia. It was an event that changed his father's job, his outlook, and his very life.

"They butchered him," David McMillan says today. "They treated him like a slab of meat."

Relying on the father's description of his child's behavior, the doctors misdiagnosed the illness, and then ultimately injected the child with what Mr. McMillan said was four times an adult dosage. Though his son reacted negatively to the first injection, said Mr. McMillan, because the doctors didn't have the time to step back and watch what was happening, they injected him again.

He watched as his son's back arched in feverish pain.

"He was pulverized," said Mr. McMillan, who felt he might have better served his son if he had simply put a towel on the child's forehead to bring down the temperature.

It wasn't until the boy was taken to Boston's Children's Hospital that his pneumonia was correctly diagnosed.

In some ways Mr. McMillan blamed himself for what had happened. Though he was a Northeastern graduate with a bachelor of science degree in accounting and a minor in business law, he believed it was his lack of knowledge that put his son in that situation.

"I made a vow that I would never be that ignorant again," he said.

Since his CPA certificate could not guarantee his son's health, Mr. McMillan decided to return to school. So after 20 years of analyzing numbers in the accounting field, he "went to the microscope" to study herbs and nutrition at Dr. Christopher's School of Natural Healing, the only one of its kinds in mid-70s America.

In so doing, Mr. McMillan embraced something from which he had earlier turned away.

Today, Mr. McMillan is the owner of Temna's Herb Pharm Inc., an herbal remedy store named after his daughter, Temna. Although the store currently has a "skeleton-type set-up, with supplies en route," Mr. McMillan said, "we are officially open."

"I wanted to get a hot air balloon in the center of town, but the town is too bureaucratic," he said. "That would have been a real eyecatcher."

which they are built. Still fewer are built with professional oversight. In fact, the vast majority of homes are not "designed" but are adapted from previous plans. Hence, the vast number of common failures and missed opportunities in the American housing stock.

Wingate names two important staff members

Wingate Health Care's president, Scott Schuster, has announced the appointment of Diane Borey as director of nursing at the company's Wingate at Andover facility, Andover's newest residential skilled nursing and rehabilitation center.

"Diane comes to us with an outstanding reputation in nursing, which includes numerous awards and an excellent academic background," said Mr. Schuster. "She will lead our patient-care team in its mission to provide the highest level of quality care in our nursing and rehabilitation programs. Our residents and families will take comfort in knowing Diane has an extensive hospital patient care background which emphasizes quality assurance."

Diane Borey

A native of Lawrence, Ms. Borey graduated from St. Mary's High School, received a nursing degree from Catherine Laboure School of Nursing, a bachelor of science degree in human services from Merrimack College and a master of business administration degree from Rivier College. She is licensed as an R.N. in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Ms. Borey has received numerous honors including being elected in 1989 to Who's Who in American Nursing and in 1986 she was named as one of the Outstanding Young Women in America.

For the last five years, Ms. Borey was employed by Holy Family Hospital in Methuen where she served as nursing supervisor and in the quality improvement department. In addition to her work at Holy Family, Ms. Borey served as the administrative supervisor at Lawrence General and as director of nursing at Mary Immaculate Nursing Home.

Ms. Borey is the mother of two, Lauren, a junior at Notre Dame Academy, and Mark, a student at St. Monica's Grammar School.

She and her husband, James, live in Haverhill.

Mr. Schuster also has announced the appointment of William E. Ring Jr. as administrator of Wingate at Andover, Skilled Nursing Residence and Rehabilitation Center, opening this month in Andover, the third of the Schuster family-owned Wingate Health Care residences.

In making the announcement, Mr. Schuster said, "I'm particularly pleased that Bill Ring, who has over 14 years of experience as a nursing home administrator, joins us as we open this important new facility, which is an exciting addition to the services we provide the elderly. Clearly, we are fortunate that Bill Ring's professional commitment in caring for the elderly is well founded in his family traditions."

Mr. Ring is the fourth generation in his family to manage nursing homes. In the early 1900s, his great great aunt, Abigail Dearborn, a nurse, was one of the first in the Commonwealth to take frail elderly into her home, offering medical and residential care. Other members of the Ring family, including Bill's father, uncle and grandfather, have owned and operated nursing homes in the Springfield area and in eastern Massachusetts; Bill's uncle and grandfather were past presidents of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes.

A native of Medford, Mr. Ring graduated from Merrimack College with a bachelor of science degree in human services administration, after receiving an associate of science degree in nursing home administration from Northern Essex Community College. He has been a licensed nursing home administrator since 1976 and has served as the administrator at Wilington Woods and the DenMar Nursing Home. Mr. Ring lives in Merrimack with his wife, Carol, a speech pathologist in the Amesbury school system, and their sons, William and Stephen.

Women, Negotiations & Divorce

Most property and custody settlements are reached through negotiations rather than litigation. Negotiations can be difficult when a marriage has broken down and feelings have been hurt. You may fear that you will be overpowered in this process by both your husband and your attorney and be coerced into accepting a settlement which does not meet your needs. The advice of an attorney both knowledgeable in family law and sensitive to your fears and wishes can help you assert your rights and negotiate a fair settlement.

Temna's Herb Pharm opens

July 17, but is planning a grand opening for some time in the middle of August. It is located at 23 Bernard St. in the same complex as Andover Photo. Mr. McMillan previously owned You Are Your Foods Inc. in North Andover.

Temna's Herb Pharm will carry a wide variety of herbal products, natural toiletries, rental videos on exercise and other programs, books on herbal remedies, health concerns, cooking, diet and natural birth, and relaxation tapes.

Mr. McMillan also will offer courses out of his shop. Although he may not stock some of the beneficial materials he will discuss, he said that he would be happy to order anything for his clients.

Rosemarie Wise, a client who also has a financial interest in the company, plans to attend these sessions. She said that she and her husband are much happier with Mr. McMillan, as he is far more personable than the typical doctor.

"I found the traditional doctors never really helped me much," she said. "And Dave always follows up."

Mr. McMillan said he will not carry the same products as the Earthfood Store, located at 28 Chestnut St.

"(Owners) Glenda and Walt (McKertich) are like family to me," he said. "They're good people and I love them."

"He's a friend of mine and I really don't look at him as competition," said Ms. McKertich. "I look at any addition to natural healing as a good thing."

"I think it complements our business," agreed Mr. McKertich.

To skeptics of herbal remedies, Mr. McMillan said, "Plants are technically vegetables and the body knows how to deal with foods like vegetables. It's not a foreign substance like drugs."

Mr. McMillan's grandfather was an herbalist, having inherited a vast array of knowledge from his father.

As a child, Mr. McMillan, too, rejected his grandfather's methods, and it was not until he was an adult that he lent any credibility at all to his grandfather's herbal concoctions.

"Growing up we were ashamed to admit that 'I got sick and my grandfather concocted something.' It was much better to say, 'I went to the doctor,'" said Mr. McMillan. "To get your tonsils out was in vogue."

But after his son's illness, he embraced herbalism completely, and today believes that his grandfather had a garden of knowledge in his possession.

"Anything that's foreign," he said, "people are skeptical of."

He suggests that people question the older people in their family about their experiences. Because the current generation is so accustomed to dealing strictly with the medical profession, they are typically skeptical of herbalists.

"Twenty-five percent of drugs on the market are herb derivatives, from my understanding," he said.

Herbs "serve multiple purposes. They help build up the body to be its own hospital and they have nutritional value."

"We want to make people aware."

In addition to studying herbs, Mr. McMillan puts a great deal of faith in the Bible, particularly Hebrew scriptures, and what it teaches about health and diet.

"I read the Hebrew scripture extensively for many reasons," he said. "It makes horse sense. It's almost like a manual, an owner's manual."

Here is a list of some of the herbs David McMillan carries

David McMillan, owner of Temna's Herb Pharm at 23 Bernard St., has great faith in the products he sells. In fact, when asked about their benefits he often asks if the questioner wants to "Pack a lunch?"

Here are some well-recognized herbal and other remedies and what Mr. McMillan has to say about their effects:

• Royal Jelly - The queen bee is fed a strict diet of this and lives many lifetimes longer than the average bee.

• Charcoal - Neutralizes contaminations. Mr. McMillan said no family should leave on a trip without it as it takes care of food poisoning, which is often caused from eating something that the body is not used to digesting.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

PILLOW TALK

Poor nighttime posture can be the source of as many aches and pains as poor posture during the day. Aside from a firm mattress, sleepers can best benefit from a pillow which provides just the right amount of loft and support. For the most part, the neck should be kept straight while sleeping. Sleeping on one's stomach serves to rotate the neck. Sleeping on one's side or back can keep the neck straight as long as the pillow does not push the head up or allow it to sag. Those who sleep predominantly on their back and sides may benefit from the use of cervical roll. This small, cylindrical pillow may be used alone or in conjunction with a regular pillow to assure proper neck support.

Don't suffer any longer with neck, back or shoulder pain. We offer you natural and safe treatments to help restore and maintain the health of your entire family. For more information, call us at DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, 475-5042, for an appointment. We accept only those patients we sincerely feel we can help. Our office is located at 15 Central Street.

P.S. Those who wake up with stiff necks or shoulders should discuss their sleeping positions with the chiropractor.

Area hospitals add MRA service

Merrimack Valley Health Services (MVHS), a consortium of local area non-profit community hospitals, including St. John's in Lowell, announces the addition of magnetic resonance angiography (MRA) to its mobile magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) service.

MRA is a non-invasive, state-of-the-art imaging technique that enables physicians to view patients' blood vessels in the head and neck.

Using a powerful magnet, radio waves and a computer, the technology is used to painlessly explore problems such as narrowing of arteries in the head and neck, aneurysms and other vascular malformations.

Dr. Paul S. Tower, chief of radiology at St. John's Hospital, says, "The MRA offers St. John's the most advanced technology to better serve our patients." MVHS is the first provider to bring mobile MRI - and now MRA - to the Merrimack Valley.

Holy Family expands cancer treatment

Holy Family Hospital has announced that a formal agreement between the hospital's Cancer Management Center and the University Hospital Oncology Program in Boston has been signed. The agreement expands upon the longstanding professional and educational ties between the physicians in both places to offer important new options for cancer treatment.

The Cancer Management Center's cancer specialists will continue to be on the staff of University Hospital in Boston and Drs. Jack T. Evjy, medical director, and Santos K. Shetty, director of radiation oncology, have teaching appointments at Boston University School of Medicine.

Working closely with University Hospital will provide patients the best of both strong basic community care and highly sophisticated Boston academic cancer center care, according to Holy Family personnel. Patients may choose to receive part or all of their care near home or in Boston.

This affiliation ensures the highest level of care to cancer patients in the Merrimack Valley.

For further information, contact the Cancer Management Center at 687-0156, Ext. 2021.

Here is a list of some herbs

According to him, charcoal was used in the oxygen masks used during the Persian Gulf conflict.

- Reflexology, and rice-soled shoes - Followers of reflexology believe that stimulating different areas of the foot also helps to stimulate different parts of the body. The store has shoes that its owner claims will do this as you walk.

"Rice-soled shoes don't retard the body's electrical flow, prevent the body from being zonked," he said. "Rubber-soled shoes can zonk the body's energy flow."

- Iridology - By taking a sort of "picture" of one's eye, one can tell if the patient is experiencing any internal problems.

- Brain-enhancing drugs - Also referred to as the "college drug" these have been consumed by members of academia and others seeking to increase their fact retention ability. Says Mr. McMillan, "We are a salt-glutinous nation. Salt, which is sodium, chases potassium out of the body. The brain is away from the pull of gravity from the heart." Therefore, when there is a loss of minerals from the bloodstream, "the brain is the first organ that is deprived. We have herbs which will assist the blood flow."

- Ginseng - a root known as an aphrodisiac for men because it contains estrogen, he said.

- Rose hips - "A cup full of rose hips has as much vitamin C as 12 dozen commercial oranges." Commercial oranges have been sprayed with pesticides and may sit on loading docks or in the store for a long time, according to Mr. McMillan.

- Aromatic herbs - Can affect moods and stimulate the stomach's gastric juices, thus affecting digestion.

- Tei fu - "A soothing muscle relaxant."

- Seaweed - "Like kelp and other things, it is loaded with iodine. If you get good, clean kelp, it's a good body builder. Iodine is a substance which helps to detox a body."

- Astragalus - Increases the amount of "friendly flora" in the system. "You should have about 26 pounds in your gut area," he said. Alcohol and penicillin kill it. A yeast infection, according to Mr. McMillan, is a body's way of saying when the amount of E coli in one's system has risen greatly in comparison to the level of friendly flora. Everyone who has had cancer, according to Andover's new herbalist, has previously had a yeast infection.

As for herbal teas, he simply asks, "Do you have a couple of days?"

As far as he's concerned, herbal teas should replace coffees, black teas, basically any drink under or even created by the sun.

"It's a medicine, it's a food, an appetite suppressant, a laxative..."

Pack a lunch? If you do, be sure to include some herbs.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D.

BREATHE EASIER

Bad breath, or halitosis, is a problem that is likely to evoke no small amount of embarrassment and concern. To alleviate this worry, it is first necessary to uncover the source of the odor. A good place to start is with a thorough cleaning of the teeth, gums, and tongue. Along with daily brushing and flossing, it is a good idea to gently brush or scrape the tongue (with a spoon) to rid it of foul-smelling buildup. At the same time, dentures and partials should be subjected to scrupulous cleaning. In some cases, mouth odor may be linked to a stomach disorder, sinus infection, or a medication's interaction with the body's chemistry. Cigarette smoking can also play a big part. If the problem persists, a professional exam and cleaning may be in order.

Your total health is always my concern. That's why all new patient exams are so thorough - so I can establish a baseline against which I can measure your future dental profile and progress. Whatever your dental concerns, I hope you'll let me help you deal with them. For complete family dentistry, call me at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93, 475-2431. My services are comprehensive and range from preventive care to implant reconstruction. Hrs: Mon & Thurs 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, and by appointment.

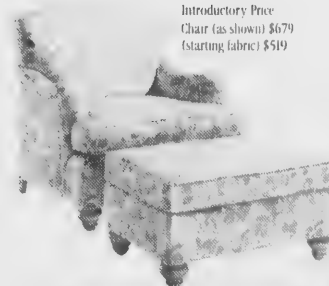

P.S. To counter bad breath, try stimulating saliva flow by chewing sugarless gum, as well as indulging in such plaque-fighters as apples and carrots.

Hospital art contest produces local winners

By Melissa DeMeo

Suzanne Callanen's vision of the X ray room is of a smiling technician explaining the procedure to a patient. The patient is draped in a lead vest at the opposite end of a table. She is smiling too.

Next to it is Li Chun Yeh's rendering of a hospital, where another smiling, pony-tailed young woman is leaving her car in the bright magic-marker sunshine.

The two Andover second-graders were winners of an art contest sponsored by Winchester Hospital. Their pictures — along with those of other second-graders from schools in Andover, Wilmington and North Reading — will be part of a school calendar that will be distributed to households in the three towns later this summer.

The idea was to give kids a blank piece of paper and let them draw their impressions of doctors, hospitals and health care, explained Jennifer White, a hospital spokeswoman. You'd think the red crayons would get the most use, and that nightmarishly long hypodermic needles would be a common motif.

Not so. Most of the hospital's 362 entries are like Suzanne's and Li's: Bright, cheery, optimistic, with shining suns and smiling faces. This art is bloodless. There are no messy operations, no sutures and very few of what children dread with every trip to the doctor's — shots. Only a couple depict patients in pain, and usually with a positive outcome. One stick-figure nurse says in a voice bubble: "She in labor." (The artist's mother recently had a baby.)

The closest to urgency the viewer will find in these pictures is the child's fascination with ambulances, bright white and whirring down sunny streets. They often aren't much bigger than the happy people standing next to them.

Dr. Michael Zaslow, chief of pulmonary medicine at Winchester Hospital, says art addresses personal issues "that medicine and surgery cannot touch."

"It breaks down some of the sterility of being a hospital patient. Now we're in the hospital; now we wear white, and people poke you with needles," said Dr. Zaslow, who recommended the hospital's current artist in residence program.

"Creative work in and of itself has healing properties," added Gina Halpern, the artist who will give demonstrations at the hospital later this month. "It puts (patients) in control when everything else seems out of control."

Suzanne, the 8-year-old daughter of Fred and Bonnie Callanen, broke her arm when she was 3. Although she admits to being a little scared, what she mostly remembers is the cast.

Sanborn, South students display flair for 'medical impressionism'

Sunita Singh has had limited experience with ambulances, but she chose to draw one for the contest. "They're driving people to the hospital," explained Sunita, a second-grader at Sanborn Elementary School and the daughter of Durga and Pushpa Singh.

Sunita was joined by fellow second graders from Sanborn and South elementary schools in Andover; L.D. Batchelder and J. Turner Hood schools in North Reading; and Shawsheen, Wildwood and Woburn Street schools in Wilmington. All of the participants received certificates for their good work.

Sanborn School: Ryan Allen, Luke Basta, Ashley Heller, Kate

Lombard, Danny Mayer, Justin Roy, Sunita Singh, Josh Slovin, Jessica Thorpe, Andrew Varley, Michael Wiesner and Matt Withington.

Creativity can keep patients' stress in check, help healing

Artist Gina Halpern, founder and director of Healing Through Arts Inc., is conducting a program at Winchester Hospital in which she is creating art for and with patients, their families and the staff and exploring the role of art in the healing process.

"Our primary concern is how the arts can enhance the quality of life for all individuals and particularly those dealing with illness," Ms. Halpern said, discussing the focus of her 3,000-member organization, founded in 1984. It includes patients, their families and health-care providers as well.

"We believe that there is healing potential inherent in creative expression," she said. She works with patients in a variety of ways to elicit their creative expression.

For example, Ms. Halpern spent several days this spring at Winchester Hospital creating drawings for the hospital's new pulmonary rehabilitation center.

She worked in the lobby - a "public studio" and patients, their families and hospital staff were invited to watch or create their own drawings.

"I generally work in two ways," she explained. "I will encourage people to do their drawings or they can describe images to me and I will put them on paper, then leave the art for the patients. It's a wonderful way to get people to talk about their feelings and what's on their minds," she added.

She also taught meditation and creative visualization at the hospital this spring and gave a presentation on using creativity for stress management.

"We want to make hospitals more positive spaces for patients and the staff," Ms. Halpern said of her organization's efforts. "Winchester is proactively trying to do this, and I think it's great when a hospital creates a relationship with an artist just for this purpose."

Dr. Michael Zaslow, chief of pulmonary medicine, was responsible for bringing Ms. Halpern to the attention of the hospital administration.

"I believe that this is truly a cutting-edge project that offers something quite special for everyone involved," he said. "Dealing with illness is as much a spiritual challenge as a physical one, and this program is designed to support and nourish the part of each of us that medicine and surgery cannot touch."

Ms. Halpern spent two weeks earlier this month at a potter's wheel in the hospital lobby, creating a piece of sculpture for the hospital.

According to Anne DiSarcina, clinical nurse counselor who assisted Ms. Halpern in setting up the "public studio" in the hospital's lobby, "Helping to center a person through poetry, pottery or prayer creates an awareness for the individual to expand the life of their minds, and in so doing, nourishes the life of their bodies."

Program for minority students in math and science turns 15 at PA

Educators, friends, and student participants of Math and Science for Minority Students, or (MS)<sup>2</sup>, joined to celebrate the Phillips Academy program's 15th anniversary July 14. Guests also included (MS)<sup>2</sup> alumni, alumnae, and program funders. Keynote speaker was Theodore Sizer, a Brown University professor of education and chairman of the Coalition of Essential Schools, a national organization he founded eight years ago to promote school reforms.

While serving from 1972-1981 as headmaster of Phillips Academy, Dr. Sizer stressed the importance of establishing a complementary relationship between public and private schools and championed the notion that students should be able to go to more than one school at a time. He was responsible for spurring the academy onward in an effort to establish part-time, on-campus programs. These programs would provide educational opportunities for public high school students in fields in which Andover was particularly strong. (MS)<sup>2</sup> was created during his tenure and the concept of public/private school collaborations has been strengthened and expanded under the leadership of current headmaster, Donald W. McNemar.

Not a remedial program, (MS)<sup>2</sup> initiated in 1977 with a $25,000 grant from the Hearst Foundation and support from Phillips Academy — prepares talented young African-American, Native American and Hispanic students to enter college and careers in medicine, engineering and other technological fields. The program was established because of the undersupply of individuals from these groups pursuing studies and careers in math- and science-related fields.

During comments at the anniversary celebration, Dr. Sizer lamented what he termed "the unhappy reality" that so many do not believe that students of color can be front-running scientists, doctors and the like.

Phillips Academy hosted (MS)<sup>2</sup>'s 15th anniversary celebration.

He acknowledged the unfairness of the system, but stressed that (MS)<sup>2</sup> students must be the evidence that smashes stereotypes. He stated that he looks forward to a day when race is a cause for rejoicing rather than prejudice, and when the Math and Science for Minority Students Program can be renamed the Math and Science Program.

This summer there are 105 public high school students from more than 11 urban communities (primarily cities east of the Mississippi) and five Native American reservations on campus in their first, second or third consecutive summer of (MS)<sup>2</sup>'s intensive math and science study, supplementing their home high school programs. Over the past 15 years, approximately 350 students from public high schools around the country have shared in this unique opportunity.

Between 1977 and 1991, 99 percent of all (MS)<sup>2</sup> students have matriculated into college directly after completing high school. Program alumni/-ae have enrolled in such prestigious institutions as Harvard University, Brown University, University of Pennsylvania, Dartmouth College, Morehouse College and MIT, and 1991 graduates are reporting equally impressive acceptances. Moreover, today there is a 60 percent employment rate of (MS)<sup>2</sup> graduates in fields related to math and science.

Chris Cleveland, a 1980 graduate of the program who serves as president of the (MS)<sup>2</sup> Alumni Association, told the audience that Phillips Academy made success possible for (MS)<sup>2</sup> graduates because "it gave us a chance to learn and grow — expand our horizons and test our abilities... The transition to college was made easier because of our PA experiences." Mr. Cleveland, who attended the (MS)<sup>2</sup> program as a student from Atlanta, Ga., lives in Rochester, N.Y., and is a quality trainer for Pfadler-U.S., Inc. He is

Discovery Series set to delight children with the arts

The Center for the Arts at the University of Massachusetts Lowell has announced the lineup for the 1992-'93 Discovery Series for children. This popular series presents four Sunday afternoons filled with acrobatics, puppets, dance, music and theater performed by nationally known children's entertainers.

The Discovery Series will open its sixth season Sunday, Oct. 4 with Come Back, Amelia Bedelia and other story books. With live music and audience participation, this show by Maximillion Productions is a melodious visit to the land of little books. Young theater-goers will see eight of their favorite short books imaginatively adapted for the stage. Such popular children's books as Ira Sleeps Over, Frog and Toad are Friends and Clifford Goes to Hollywood come alive with song and dance. (For ages 4-10.)

On Sunday, Nov. 8, TV host, Broadway actor and folk musician Tom Chapin will present a program filled with warmth, wit and a sense of shared fun and insight — not to mention good music and good singing. An Afternoon with Tom Chapin is "adult-safe," according to the producers. (For ages 4-14.)

Boston Ballet II will perform Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs on Sunday, March 21. This special adaptation of the classic fairy tale is a delightful way to introduce children to the storytelling magic of dance. (For ages 4-10.) This event is sponsored by Nancy and Richard K. Donahue.

The last event in the series will be Visual Comedy and Inflatable Vaudeville with Fred Garbo. Internationally known comedian, juggler, acrobat and inflatable man, Mr. Garbo is best known to children as Sesame Street's Barkley the Dog. In this show, Fred and his partner, Brazilian dancer Daielma Santos, present "mime, magic and unequalled feats of inflatable folderol." (For ages 4-14.) This event is sponsored by O'Connor School Pictures and Associates.

In addition to these four Discovery events, the center will offer two special events. The first, Mur Mur, Acrobatic Theatre is on Sunday, Oct. 25. This production by Dynamo Theatre of Canada is "a spectacular acrobatic performance and riveting theater that speaks directly to the imaginations and experiences of young audiences." Five actor/acrobats take a sometimes funny, sometimes touching look at adolescent friendship and love as they portray the joys and struggles of this time of fast-changing emotions. (For ages 8-14.) This event is sponsored by Enterprise Bank and Trust Company.

On Sunday, Dec. 6, Simple Gifts with Gould and Stearns presents a performance of stories, physical comedy and songs based on holiday traditions. The widely-acclaimed comedy team focus on the warmth of friendship and family relationships. Combining Christian and Jewish traditions, a madcap rendition of The Night Before Christmas, humor and nonstop action, this show casts the holiday season in a completely new light. (For ages 4-14.) This event is sponsored by William M. Alexis, Inc., Pharmacists.

Season tickets for the Discovery Series are $16 per person for all four events, a 20 percent savings over single-ticket prices of $5 per person for each event. Discovery subscribers also save on tickets for the two special events, paying $6 per person instead of $7.50. Single tickets for the Discovery Series and special events will go on sale Aug. 17, if any tickets remain.

There are two performances of each event, one at 2 p.m. and the other at 4. (Mur Mur will be presented at 2 p.m. only.) All performances take place in Durgin Hall, located at the corner of Pawtucket and Wilder streets on the south campus. The theater is handicapped-accessible and free parking is nearby.

For more information, to request a brochure, or to order tickets, call the center at 934-4444 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Success and challenges ahead for (MS)<sup>2</sup>

The (MS)<sup>2</sup> program is embedded in and part of the Andover Summer Session, which is observing its 50th anniversary. Participants share dormitory life, meals and weekend social activities with the rest of the summer session's 7,500 students; however, (MS)<sup>2</sup> students have a directed course of study, longer class hours each day, more time commitments outside of class and are the only students who come to Andover for three consecutive summers (following their freshman, sophomore and junior years in high school).

The (MS)<sup>2</sup> program is tuition-free. Tuition and associated costs, such as travel, may be covered by contributions from foundations, corporations and Phillips Academy. Since the program's inception, grants have totaled more than $3 million; however, according to Director Walter Sherrill, corporate and foundation financial support has decreased from 80 percent to 50 percent of the annual budget. This has necessitated a cutback in the number of students accepted and an increase in academy financing.

Phillips Academy Trustee Frederick Beinecke ('62) announced during the anniversary celebration that the New York-based Sperry Fund, which he heads, has pledged a $500,000 endowment gift to (MS)<sup>2</sup>, which will require matching funds. Mr. Beinecke noted that this is the largest gift ever made by the foundation, prompted by the documented success of the (MS)<sup>2</sup> program and the commitment of its alumni. He voiced his hope that the gift would, in turn, spur others. The academy's goal is to raise $2 million for the program's endowment, which today stands at more than $1 million.

Merrimack Junior Theatre will present the musical Godspell at the air-conditioned Old Town Hall on Friday, July 31, and Saturday, Aug. 1, at 7:30 p.m.

This summer production represents a new venture for this popular children's theater. For the first time, Merrimack Junior Theatre is offering serious performers in high school and college an opportunity to work at a semi-professional level. Many of the cast members are seriously considering a career in theater and have received awards for exceptional talent.

Andover cast members include Todd Buonopane, Jen D'Onofrio, Elaine Ericksen, Devorah Flashenberg, Julie Gediman, Amy Hayner, Geoff Lewis, Tim Plankey, and Eric Ralston. Also in the cast are Niki Credit of Leominster, Mark Peterson of Chelmsford, and Kristin Spero and Kurt Velguth of North Andover.

Under the direction of Terri Ingram and Christy Welty, the setting for this biblical musical has been updated to modern times.

The characters come together in a subway station in a large urban city. The cast members developed their own street characters and costumes. Some of the characters include bikers, hippies, street vendors, runaways, construction workers, artists and evangelists.

Godspell is filled with humor, pathos and music.

Tickets are $6 for adults and $4 for seniors and students. Tickets may be purchased at the door or in advance at the Old Town Hall or at the Department of Community Services.

DCS playgrounds are lively this summer

By Andover Department of Community Services

Shee-hee camp, week 1

The Shee-hees got the summer off to a great start with their "Under the Sea" activities. Melissa Chiozzi, Kate Infantine, Christopher Munger and Amy Kasparian made fish collages on Monday. Matthew Moody, Kristen Sebasky, Kathryn Ligato and Megan Sebasky brought in their seashell collections while Brittany Welch, Tyler Bedford, Julia Littlefield, and Matthew Lee created an "undersea" wall mural on Tuesday. Rachel Raul, Karl Novick, Patrick Tonelli, Billy Huzar and Danielle Liffmann enjoyed the water play activities on Wednesday. The Shee-hees created edible aquariums on Thursday. Benjamin Paskal, Vicki Lucas and Sam Rodin all agreed they were delicious. Sea-life sticker pictures were designed on Friday by Jennifer McDonald, Karen Wandry and Meredith Levenson while Paul Malaguti, Laura Goldsheim, Christine Hill and Laura Reilly participated in bubble activities.

Shaw-nee camp, week 2

Children at Shaw-nee playground dived right into the first week's "Under the Sea" theme. Michael Malaguti, David Gardner and Sarah Donelan experimented with watercolor wash and created special portraits of the ocean. Everyone contributed to the spectacular underwater mural which now hangs on the wall. Kyle MacKenzie, Robert Kaufman and Carolyn Sebasky had a lot to say about the seashell display, which featured a horse-shoe crab. It seemed as if no one was left dry during water-play day when Susie Biggs, Phillip Lucas and Meaghan Downes-Berry were just a few who took advantage of the pools. At week's end, edible aquariums were enjoyed by all.

Shee-hee camp, week 2

The theme of water and under-the-sea seemed to tell Mother Nature we needed rain, rain, rain—yet that never stopped the Shee-hees from having a whale of a time. Thomas Champion, Kristen Costagliola, Warren Dkye, Patrick and Betty Haggerty stuffed and painted whales for hanging on Monday and the fluorescent paints made them easy to find. On Tuesday, a very wet day, the Shawsheen gym was a great place for parachute play with Colin Dunbar, Tyler Bedford, Kerry and Maureen Gaj and Brittany Welch. Wave bottles were a big hit for Daniel Movesian, Eric Mason, Tushin Shaw, Andrew Thibodeau and Matthew Lee. Wednesday brought more rain and Tall Ships were created by Karl Novick, Jason Perryman, Ashley Harris, Rachel Rauh and Chloe Sempere. Thursday was movie day and The Little Mermaid was enjoyed by all.

Shaw-nee camp, week 2

Shaw-nee playground had a great week "Under the Sea." Lucy Properzio, Zachary Wish and Meaghan Downes-

Brian Dale paints a gigantic castle made of cardboard during camp at Shawsheen School this week. On Monday the campers created an entire kingdom full of kings, queens and wizards, thanks to the recycled materials provided by the Creative Resource Center.

Berry were great singers for Down by the Bay. Monday we made stuffed whales and Lauren Grobicki's, Carolyn Sebasky's and Matthew Colombo's came out beautifully. Tuesday's wave bottles came out great and were lots of fun to make. Chris Westwood, Robert Kaufmann, Erica Ginsberg and Josh Caplan had tons of fun making waves. On Wednesday, Michael Hebert, Kazutaka Kimura and Kate Denison made paperweights that looked just like the beach. Watching The Little Mermaid was a lot of fun. Ryan Buckley, Sarah Donelan and Andrew Alexander loved the snack of popcorn and juice. Friday was sandcastle day and Rachel Weisblatt, Paul Munger and Rachel Dyke made the best sandcastles ever.

Bancroft drop-in playground, weeks 1 and 2

Bancroft playground began with some rules and regulations so everyone could have a fun and safe summer. Megan Munroe, Mike Hass and Kevin Hess were star athletes, making their way through the obstacle course in less than a minute. While in the gym, Rob Piantoni and Sarah Lochmann were standouts in dodgeball. Week two started with some colorful tie-dyed shirts made by Tyler Pinstein and Sarah Cote. On Wednesday Brian Welch and Kara Ahem won the corner game at the outing to Roll-R-Way. Week two ended with a trip to South School for some heavy competition in kickball.

West drop-in playground, weeks 1 and 2

The first two weeks of playground were fun and exciting. After everyone got to meet the counselors, Chris, Joanna and Joe. High scorers in soccer were Joe Fury, Lisa Tisber, and Spencer Bucholz. Erin and Kerry McArdle, Christine Bevacqua and Hilary Cohen went crazy with gimp. Courtney Bartlett was the queen of bombardment, with outstanding performances also turned in by Ross Austin and Mike Grieco. Sven and Erki Oman drove around and around on bike day, while Andy McIntyre and Pat Sullivan chowed on ice cream and warheads. The kids tie-dyed T-shirts on Monday. Amanda Bucholz and Catherine Kaczynski had especially creative designs. Dennis Moss motored around Roll-R-Way on Wednesday as Pamela Schardin skated circles around the counselors.

South Drop-in playground, weeks 1 and 2

One word that could be used to describe the first week at South playground would be excitement. The week started with the counselors and campers trying to get acquainted with one another. This was accomplished by playing the name game. After the name game, a monster bombardment game was started. Standout players were Chris Farr, Tim Dunning and Michael and Timmy Sheehy. Thursday was "Everybody's Birthday." To celebrate, all the campers enjoyed cupcakes and a water-balloon toss. Week one ended with a bike trip to the Rose Glen Dairy for ice cream. Week two got off to a great start with everyone bringing in their whites for tie-dye day. Tiffany Gentile was instrumental in helping make some of the shirts. Pizza day was a great success with each camper getting a hot slice or two of pizza and a soda. Wednesday the campers ventured to Roll-R-Way. Thursday brought Hawaiian day and everyone enjoyed fruit salad. The week ended with Bancroft playgrounders joining us for a great day.

Sanborn playground, weeks 1 and 2

The summer started at Sanborn playground with a meeting of the new staff, Michelle, Chris, and Tim, with all of the kids. After the rules and regulations, Pat Jelson, Alex, Nick and Sam Berger joined in the first day of new games. The sunny weather on Tuesday brought Jill Nathan and Maura McConville ready to play cage soccer, while Emily and Khaki McElfresh and Adam Parkhurst played kickball on Wednesday. Billy and Nick Hankey brought goggles on Thursday so they could play hockey in the morning. Later on, the whole playground joined in a game of prison ball. Peter Gerstburger, John Williams and Michelle Danis, along with others, joined Chris and Tim for a bike trip to Rose Glen. Jessica Olans and Merry Fish made beautiful tie-dye shirts. Pizza day on Tuesday brought a lot of hungry campers to Sanborn. Jeff Smith, Mike Bumett and Kristin and Sue Moffit chowed on pizza. Kristin Sweeney, Rachel Parkhurst, Jenika and David Homung enjoyed rollerskating at Roll-R-Way Wednesday. Hawaiian day was Thursday. Beth Couture, Alex Ruda, and Mike Walkace ate some of the fruit salad. West playground came to visit on Friday for a big sport day.

Historical Society continues its hospitality while renovating Amos Blanchard House

By Virginia Lopez Begg
Andover Historical Society

The Andover Historical Society is redecorating the family parlor. And, as any homeowner will understand, visitors are asked to be patient while the painting, papering and other work transform this special room for yet another time in its century-and-three-quarters of existence. The general dust and commotion that accompanies such a project will close the society's front four rooms through-out August.

If August had been the month when you'd planned on dropping by the Amos Blanchard House, there is no reason to postpone your visit. The cavernous old barn museum will still welcome guests who want to explore its expansive collections of farm implements, gadgets and tools of every description. The barn shows how life was really lived in "Andover's own good old days."

The meeting room gallery inside the house will also remain open. Viewers can admire the current exhibit of creative needlework, carefully executed by earlier Andover residents. Five videos, ranging from seven to 42 minutes in length, are also available for an "armchair look" at local history every Monday through Friday from 1 to 3 p.m. and Wednesdays from 5 to 8:30 p.m.

The subjects include four tours: the Amos Blanchard House Museum; Main Street; Ballardvale; and a general overview of the Andovers, as well as a look at West Parish women in the 19th century.

The regular small admission fee will be reduced by half during the renovations. The office and Caroline Underhill Research Library will maintain normal hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday and Wednesdays until 8:30 pm. Check the program calendar for the August walking tours, a field trip to the Essex Institute and lunchtime activities.

Work on the parlor and the front hall is supported by a challenge grant from the Shawmut Bank. The grant was successfully matched by friends and supporters of the Andover Historical Society. The funds will underwrite new paint and wallpaper, and restoration of the original grained finish of the room's woodwork.

Remaining funds will be applied to new ceiling, floor and window treatments.

Castle Hill will offer mansion tours

The Castle Hill Great House in Ipswich will open its doors to visitors on Tuesdays throughout August. Guests will be guided through the mansion from 1 to 4 p.m.

The Great House of Castle Hill is a 59-room Stuart-period mansion overlooking the sands of Crane Beach. Richard T. Crane, the wealthy Chicago industrialist, had the house built as a summer vacation home for his wife and family. Acknowledged as the architectural masterpiece of David Adler, the house contains a 63-foot long gallery, and a library bearing original ornamental wood carvings by the 17th-century English craftsman, Grinling Gibbons. As befits the man who brought the first practical yet decorative bathrooms to Americans everywhere, there are ten bathrooms embellished with sterling silver fixtures and Italian marble throughout the mansion.

The admission is $5 for adults and $3 for children and senior citizens. Tickets are available at the door. Members of The Trustees of Reservations are admitted free. Castle Hill is a property of The Trustees of Reservations.

Samaritans volunteer time to help others

Samaritan volunteers answer their phones nearly 100 times every day at the center in Lawrence. Often the caller is a person who is worried about a depressed family member or friend.

In response to the increasing number of these third-party calls, the Samaritans of Merrimack Valley offer a support group, Concerned Friends, a place to share feelings of frustration and helplessness and experiences that may help others cope with their daily relationships.

One of the group's leaders is Andover resident Judy Astbury.

Concerned Friends meets on the first

Monday of each month from 7 to 9 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, 57 Peters St., North Andover.

Meetings are open to people of all ages who are concerned about friends or family members. There is no attendance requirement and no fee. Samaritans are not affiliated with any religious group.

Ms. Astbury will be joined by Anne DeCesare of Atkinson, N.H., in leading the group. Both are Samaritan-trained facilitators. They emphasize that this group is not intended as a therapy session or a substitute for counseling.

For more information, call 688-0030.

St. Roberts Youth Group has a new beginning

St. Robert's Youth Group is being revitalized, according to St. Robert Bellarmine Parish. To kick off this new beginning, they will host their annual Hawaiian luau. Sign-up sheets and information are available at the church. This event will be one of many activities scheduled for the upcoming year. More ideas will be discussed at the next youth group meeting Sunday, Aug. 30, at 7 p.m. in the rectory. All are welcome; drop by and share ideas, they ask.

One person got zapped for $730 plus towing charges - but he paid the bill for parking violations.

You would likewise walk back to your car one day and not find it if you haven't been paying your Andover parking ticket violations.

The town began its crackdown Tuesday, towing away four automobiles, according to Police Chief James Johnson.

"We've been planning for some time," said Town Manager Kenneth Mahony. "We are in a crackdown. We are going to tow them away."

And Mahony noted that the town's computer system - "Andover's answer to the Boot" - will make it easier to track offenders.

Armed with a new law, officials can tow any vehicle with five unpaid parking violations and impound the car until the fines are paid.

Current book reading: The Power of Positive Thinking by Norman Vincent Peale.

Newspaper subscriptions: Andover Townsman, Eagle-Tribune.

Transportation: Shuttle bus and other public transportation.

Leisure activities: Pokeno, Beano, line dancing, visiting relatives and reading.

By Lisa Boudreau

When Mary Roman learned she was chosen volunteer of the year at the Andover Senior Center she told a friend, "I don't know if I deserve this award."

According to Olivia Scileppi, volunteer coordinator at the center, that is exactly what she expected to hear when she told Mrs. Roman of the award.

"Anything and everything we ask her to do she does, and with a smile on her face," said Ms. Scileppi.

"She's such a pleasure to be with."

Mrs. Roman moved to Andover 12 years ago from the Saugus area. The widowed mother of three sons moved here to be closer to her family.

"When I moved here I didn't know a soul. (The Senior Center) is a beautiful place to meet people. I've met so many wonderful friends here," Mrs. Roman said.

Every week day "without fail" Mrs. Roman takes the shuttle bus to the Senior Center. She collects lunch money and serves meals to those who need assistance in the cafeteria.

Mrs. Roman also helps at the Pokeno and Beano games. Line dances at the center wouldn't be the same without her, said Ms. Scileppi.

"Mary always has a smile on her face. My day wouldn't be the same without one of her big hugs," she said.

'Anything and everything we ask her to do she does, and with a smile on her face.'

Olivia Scileppi, volunteer coordinator

Mary Roman holds her reward for being named volunteer of the year.

Mary Byrne, director of the Senior Center, said Mrs. Roman is the center's unofficial ambassador of good will.

"When someone new comes to the Senior Center, Mary takes them under her wing," Ms. Byrne said.

"She really is a wonderful lady."

Mrs. Roman said she feels fulfilled after a day of helping others at the Senior Center.

"This morning I got a cup of coffee for a woman with a cane. The smile she gave me was enough of a thank you. It was uplifting the whole day," she said.

Mrs. Roman, who is always one of the first on the dance floor, said she worries about growing older and no longer being self sufficient. That day, she said, is a long way off. Mrs. Roman keeps busy at the Senior Center and said the joy she gets from helping others is the best defense against old age.

When she isn't helping at the Senior Center, Mrs. Roman enjoys reading novels and nature books as well as attending church at St. Augustine and shopping.

30 kids are getting a head start on learning

Elementary School, spent a day at Summer Start and introduced the students to the world of science. Ms. Ringleb showed the children insects and plants through magnifying glasses and microscopes. She said that the students were very curious, some having never seen these materials. "One boy thought I was magic: When I put sand into the magnifying glass, he thought I changed it into stone."

Ms. Ringleb thinks that one of the strongest areas of Summer Start is the play experience. "We took a walk downtown, and the kids seemed so happy just to be outdoors."

Members of the church who served on the committee to expedite Summer Start hope that the program's success will lead to an expansion of associations of this type. Said Janet Johnson, committee member, "Hopefully Summer Start will serve as a prototype for other churches in the area."

Summer Start is a cooperative arrangement. Parents of the children add time and service to the program. Also contributing to the effort of Summer Start are more than 50 volunteers from the UU church, who come in each day to participate in daily activities and field trips.

"The church has been an equal partner in planning and helping with events," said Ms. Bayer.

North Andover, in no particular order, he said.

The lawns at Spring Grove Cemetery, one of at least nine cemeteries in town, are meticulously groomed by a four-person crew. And while digging graves is the most important aspect of a cemetery worker's job, and the very reason the job exists, more of their time is spent landscaping, according to Mr. Bamford.

"They spend more time mowing and trimming than with anything else," Mr. Bamford said.

Each funeral takes half a day, but it takes three men a full week to mow the entire cemetery.

Dan Verrington, of Bradford, has been supervisor at Spring Grove for five years. He has an associates degree in horticulture from Essex Agricultural Institute in Danvers. His three-man crew, which does all the cutting and trimming as well as the burying at Spring Grove, includes Hank Newcomb, born and raised in Ballardvale but living in Tewksbury, and Mark White and Peter Nowell, both of Andover.

Mr. Newcomb, 55, has been working for the town for 30 years, the last 10 at the cemetery, and will retire in five weeks, on Sept. 5, his birthday, the same day he started 30 years ago. Mr. Newcomb operates the front-end loader and backhoe and said he has buried "quite a few" of the town's residents over the years.

The business of burial

When the cemetery receives a request for a burial, the workers first verify the location of the plot, then probe for the locations of nearby vaults or caskets so they can get the new one side by side with the old.

The vault is a cement box in the ground into which the casket is placed. The cement box is required in many cemeteries, including Spring Grove, but not in some Jewish cemeteries or some older cemeteries.

Probing is done by poking a steel rod down into the ground until it strikes the top of the other vault or vaults. The worker then probes to find the edge of the vault, and that is where the digging for the new grave begins.

One time a family got upset, Mr. Bamford says, because they happened to be at the cemetery and witnessed the probing. Some people are funny like that, Mr. Bamford said.

The workers use what looks like a large carpenter's square to mark out the edges of the grave, and a lawn edger to cut the sod before they bring in the backhoe to actually scoop out the dirt. Plywood is laid down along the edges of the grave to assure a smooth straight cut.

Although a grave is generally believed to be six feet, most are actually only about 5 and a half feet because the Occupational Safety and Health Administration doesn't allow workers to work in a hole that's over their head without shoring it up. A single plot is 3 feet wide by 10 feet long, but the hole is only 8 feet long.

The digging in Spring Grove can be very difficult, and workers have had to hire outside crews to drill and blast rock. Other areas have a lot of drainage problems and pumps have to be placed in holes to keep them clear.

Once the hole is dug all the dirt is taken away so the area will be clean for the funeral service.

Placement of the vault

The next step is for the burial vault to be set in the hole.

A vault is a precast cement box that keeps the ground from settling or collapsing around the casket.

Simple vaults are 1-inch or 1-1/2-inch concrete. Others are more elaborate and thicker, with plastic liners and lids that seal.

"Some of them get real carried away. Some of them have copper covers, or stainless steel," Mr. Verrington said.

Once the vault is in place, indoor-outdoor carpeting and coco mats are laid on the grass around the grave to make everything clean and neat. A frame, with straps for lowering the casket into the ground, is laid over the hole in preparation for the funeral.

After the funeral, the casket is lowered into the ground using a gear-driven strap mechanism that keeps the casket level. The straps are then removed and used again to lower the lid of the vault into place.

Workers pack sand and gravel around the vault to keep it from settling, and finally dirt is placed on top. Only about 18 inches of earth covers the top of the grave.

The head stone is appropriately named as it is placed at the head of the casket, and not on top or at the foot of it.

"I had a disinterment once and I found out it's not a good idea to put them under the stone," Mr. Verrington said.

Foot markers, on the other hand, are placed at the bottom of the grave. Veterans get government foot markers, either bronze or granite, for free, in addition to whatever marker they choose.

Serious business

Mr. Bamford was concerned that an article on Spring Grove not poke fun at grave digging or treat too lightly the burial process.

"People are funny about cemeteries," Mr. Bamford said.

He pointed out that whenever the subject of cemeteries comes up at a meeting, such as it has at zoning, planning and selectmen meetings several times over the past year, people always make jokes.

It always remind him of when his daughter was little and would hold her breath whenever they drove past a cemetery, he said.

"I think it's just a natural reaction that people have. It's a nervousness. They know that some day that's where they're going," Mr. Bamford said.

In almost the next breath, Mr. Bamford asked about the "deadline" for the article being written, and didn't chuckle at the pun.

Room for many more

Only about 25 of Spring Grove's 45 acres have been cleared for burials so far. There are about 6,000 graves there now. At an average of about 75 graves and 25-30 ash burials per year, there is enough room left to last well into the next century, according to Mr. Verrington.

"At least another 100 years or so," the supervisor said.

Mr. Bamford said that future depends on society, and that a trend toward more cremations could make the space left last much longer.

But not just anybody can be buried at Spring Grove.

"You have to be a resident of Andover to purchase" a plot, Mr. Verrington said.

That's because the cemetery costs are subsidized by Andover taxpayers. The cemetery operates on a budget for supplies, payroll and utilities, but the appropriation at town meeting is supplemented with interest earned from the cemetery's perpetual care fund, which is handled by the town treasurer.

Residents who buy a plot, but then move out of town, can still be buried in Spring Grove. Residents can also resell their plot to non-residents.

Costs of being buried

An average burial costs about $5,000 these days, but it can be done for a little bit less or for a great deal more, depending on the wishes of the family.

A full-size grave plot at Spring Grove sells for $360. An ash plot, which is about one-third the size of a regular grave, costs $120. Interment for a full-size casket in May went up $50, to $400. Interment for ashes is $150. At West Parish, it's $800 for a plot, $650 for interment and $300 for burial of ashes.

Funeral home services cost about $2,300, according to Gary Burke, of the M. A. Burke Funeral Home on North Main Street. Caskets cost an additional $500 to $6,000, with the average spent being $1,200 to $1,500.

Burial vaults start at $250 for a simple, unsealed box, and go up to about $650-$700 for sealed vaults. More exotic ones can go as high as $1,700, according to Mr. Burke.

Headstones start at $250 and go up to $20,000 or more. Foot markers start at $225 and can go to about $900, depending on the granite and other variables.

Other cemeteries in town

Spring Grove is the only town-run cemetery, but at least eight others exist here, according to Mr. Bamford.

Those include West Parish, Sacred Heart, Beth Israel, Mt. Vernon, St. Augustine's, Christ Church, South Church, a small Revolutionary War era cemetery in Harold Parker State Forest and a small cemetery at Phillips Academy.

Tell your children

In the past, we told our children not to talk with strangers and for goodness sakes, don't ever go in the car of a person you don't know.

Today it's a different world. We need to teach our children that there are people in the world who are smart, and sick enough to try to fool them into going into the woods to shoot frogs with them.

In the past, we didn't want to scare our children. Today, that's what we have to come close to doing. One neighborhood group, in the Argyle Street area, already gathered young children together and asked a police officer to talk with them about the dangers of strangers. That was a smart and necessary move.

P.J. Davis, a 13-year-old Haverhill boy, was murdered in the woods and buried Monday. That is not an isolated incident. It's time to make sure our children know more about what's safe and what isn't.

Godspell would be worth seeing

A good bet this weekend, if you are looking for entertainment, would be to take in Merrimack Junior Theatre's production of the musical, Godspell.

The Junior Theatre is usually excellent, and this should be, too.

We have great expectations for this production because it is a new venture for the children's theater. This Godspell is done by high school and college students, not the usual younger children who ordinarily make up the Merrimack Junior Theatre. The younger members are good, very good, but these actors and actresses are young people, many of whom got their start with the Merrimack Junior Theatre and Josie Walker. Now, many of them are semi-professionals.

See the story on page 14 of how to attend this Godspell, Friday and Saturday at Old Town Hall.

This woman is taking care of herself

By Perry Colmore Catlin

A good friend called recently to say she was in trouble. She'd had a "bad" mammogram and it looked like it might be cancer. This week, maybe week three of her frightening journey into the unknown, she is doing such good work I thought it worth mentioning here.

She first heard she had a lump the size of a 50-cent piece. She hadn't felt it; it was discovered in a routine mammogram.

A lump in one's breast is enough to scare someone into submission. Just tell me what to do and I'll behave. That's the understandable reaction. And it was the first reaction of my friend.

But not for long. She was not treated well by the assistant of the first doctor, with whom she'd had the mammogram. That was when she called me. She knew it didn't feel right to be working with a doctor who made her feel like she should sit up and behave and not ask questions.

But she felt she must be in a hurry and she ought to "behave." We come from the era when you didn't question doctors. My experience today is that a good doctor welcomes his or her patient's questions. A well-informed patient is a good patient, is what we hope the doctor believes.

Instinct and support from friends made my friend decide to go for a second opinion so she phoned the first doctor and said she was going to seek a second opinion and she'd need her X-rays and the report of what his office thought of her condition.

When she went to pick up what was rightfully hers, the office treated her badly. They were cold and curt and acted as if it was a big problem to turn over her records. Personnel there let her know it was not cool to go against this office and what was her problem anyway.

Off to the second doctor my friend went, one she sort of picked out of a phone book. This office visit was worse than the first. This doctor already was talking about a radical mastectomy when he hadn't even done a biopsy. So my friend was even more confused now.

"I wish I had stuck with the first doctor. It would all be over by now," is what she told me after that appointment.

With encouragement, she called a third doctor; this one recommended by a friend who had gone through breast cancer with a doctor she liked, trusted and felt well treated by. As I write this, she is at that appointment. That doctor at least gave her some hints about the treatment she'd received from the first two. "Oh, we don't do it that way," his administrator told her by phone, when she explained how the previous two doctors planned to treat her. "First, we'll meet you, take mammograms again, and talk about your options." And that doctor said he does biopsies before making any other decisions about treatment.

Options. This office let my friend know there are options. Yes, she is in a hurry, but not so much of a hurry that she and a medical team can't think, take it one step at a time, and discuss her options. The catch with the third doctor is he is not on her medical-insurance plan. So you see, there's another decision to make.

In the meantime, the first doctor got back to my friend, after hearing

A clown dropped by; it was a success

Editor, Townsmen:

Thank you for putting our announcement in the paper. (See Towntalk, July 23 Townsmen, about the Krieger sisters, Alex, 9, and Elizabeth, 13, of Lincoln Street, holding a fair in their backyard to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.) The carnival was a great success. We made $69 for Muscular Dystrophy Association. My friend, Katie McKain, and her mother brought three baby goats.

Also, a professional clown (Jimbo Z. Klown) saw our announcement in the paper and came to do his act. We would like to thank Party Harty for the balloons that they donated and special thanks to our helpers, Matt and Jimmy Delaney, Alexis Olans, Michelle Empey, Lisa and Melissa DiVincenzo, Naoko Fukasawa, Jill and Amy Spangler and Katie McKain.

Thanks again for making our carnival a success.

Reader supports Eileen Woods' appointment

Editor, Townsmen:

It was shocking to me to read your opinion about the selection of new Assistant Superintendent Eileen Woods with the headline "The Community was Cheated." (Last week's editorial, page 36.) Your editorial last week was uncalled for. You attempted to make clear that you were upset about the process of her selection, rather than who was selected, but it came across loud and clear that Sue King was your personal choice.

Let me assure you that Mrs. Woods' name was not merely pulled from a hat. Although the process of selection was speeded up, the careful consideration of each candidate was not.

I am quite certain that Dr. McQuillan, the School Committee, not to mention the 10 people who served on the search committee, had no interest in recommending or appointing the wrong person for the job. I appreciate your desire to inform the public on such matters as qualification for important town positions but we must trust that the people we have put in place to run the Andover public schools are capable of hiring candidates who can do their job.

Mrs. Woods was selected from a large number of highly qualified applicants, none of whom had their hats in their hands, and was selected because she is the best person available. What possible motive would Dr. McQuillan have for appointing less than the very best to assist him in his duties?

When people speak of job candidates they are not referring to elected officials. We elected the School Committee. We do not elect assistant superintendents. It might have been interesting to know about each applicant but it is not up to the community to appoint people to jobs.

I am a Sanborn parent, where Mrs. Woods has served diligently for six years. The article said that you felt badly that no parent from Sanborn could be quoted in the Townsmen about why "Mrs. Woods was the best choice." You may quote one now - "Mrs. Eileen Woods is the best choice for assistant superintendent of the Andover schools because Dr. McQuillan and the School Committee said so." Who among us is better qualified to make that selection?

As for my personal opinion, Mrs. Woods will be a wonderful asset to the central office. She has very high personal integrity, something that is most important to me and can only be known by working with an individual over time.

Promoting someone from within does have its benefits. Her actions speak louder than her words and her diligent work speaks for itself. Mrs. Woods has a talent for pulling school and community together toward a common goal and never loses sight of the objective - the students.

Congratulations to Dr. McQuillan, the School Committee and special thanks to Candace Hall, the town personnel director. Eileen Woods will be missed at Sanborn but we are fortunate that she will remain in our system.

There's life after Ross Perot

Editor, Townsmen:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all who participated in the Ross Perot signature campaign. Your involvement was a huge success.

The withdrawal of Mr. Perot should not diminish the enthusiasm and shared concern for the future of our country. The message that we wanted our elected officials to hear began as individual grass-root voices that grew to a roar of millions. The messenger is gone but the message is not.

The organization that developed during the Ross Perot campaign is still active (despite what you may have heard) with meetings being held throughout the state and country. I attended a state-wide meeting in Boxborough. At this meeting, two interim Fifth District coordinators were appointed and a state coordinator will be elected in the very near future.

We discussed the development of six platform consensus items to be submitted by grass-roots people within the community. These items will be presented for commitment by candidates seeking our support or endorsement. Collectively we can make a difference.

Please send me your six platform issues, as soon as possible for consideration in this development and indicate the extent of your involvement in this new movement for participation in future meetings.

Let's take America back and truly have a government for and by the people!

We welcome your letters

The Townsmen welcomes readers' letters.

Letters should be typed, if possible. They should be no longer than two typed pages, double spaced.

The deadline for letters is Monday at 5 p.m. They can be brought to the office at 33 Chestnut St., or mailed to the Townsmen.

Letters must be signed with a name and address. Writers also should include a phone number, which may be needed for verification purposes. The phone number will not be published.

The editor reserves the right to edit letters for space, clarity, libel and taste.

Letters about elections and candidates are welcome. But election letters will not be published in the last Townsmen edition before the election.

In addition, the Townsmen will not publish letters that are obvious letter-writing campaigns.

Woman is taking care of herself

she was unhappy with the way she was treated by his office. He has made some other suggestions, so she may go back to him. My friend is getting slightly frantic and even admitting she may be moving into the realm of denial. But still, she is moving forward with decisions.

It is difficult when you are thrown into a field about which you know almost nothing but need to know everything. It's tempting to turn it over to "someone who knows everything." Trouble is, no one knows everything and medicine is not an exact science, even though when we're in trouble we wish it were. There are no black and white answers. That's bad and good news for my friend. It's bad news because during a very frightening time she has to stay alert and do research so she'll make good decisions when it is tempting to sit down and say, "Someone take care of me, please." It's good news because with research, she will understand more of what is happening and that way she will take control of the situation, make decisions for herself and feel less panicked when she is armed with knowledge and therefore power.

I admire her nerve and ability to face each day during this difficult time. I admire the fact that she is not turning her life over to someone with whom she was not comfortable. I admire her for following her instincts and daring to arm herself with knowledge.

A cookie is a treat and not always on the shelf

By Mary Katis

Losing weight and gaining weight have been part of Leslie Kalafarski's life for as long as she can remember. She tried all the national programs and still had to cope with repeated cycles of gaining weight.

When her doctor told her to lose weight before surgery for a hip revision, Mrs. Kalafarski, of 45 Dana St., North Andover, began the Health and Diet program. Mary Ann Nicosia, owner and nutrition counselor of Health and Diet of Merrimack Valley, 133 Main St. North Andover, helped her lose 35 pounds and has educated her to make positive decisions about eating.

Leslie Kalafarski and her husband, Peter Kalafarski, are teachers. Mrs. Kalafarski teaches kindergarten at the Frost School in Lawrence and Peter Kalafarski teaches chemistry and physics at North Andover High School.

Mrs. Kalafarski had one hip replacement because of an arthritis condition, and is now convalescing from a hip revision operation. Before surgery she had to give seven pints of blood and she Leslie Kalafarski and her husband, Peter, pose for a photo on their North Andover porch with their children, Adam, 11, a student at the Atkinson School, and Emily, 9, a student at the Thompson School. The family is eating healthy food, thanks to Leslie Kalafarski's journey into learning to eat properly.

"One-on-one nutrition education is what I can give my clients," said Ms. Nicosia. "A diet is something you go on and go off, but learning about healthy eating habits brings about lifetime changes."

Ms. Nicosia has given lectures and seminars addressing prevention before eating problems arise. She has spoken to the Franklin and Atkinson School children and to local non-profit groups, such as the North Andover Lions Club, and to the YMCA classes and AT&T employees.

"Outside influences can make it very difficult to loose weight and change habits," said Ms. Nicosia. "The quantity of food and portion size is important. Hunger level or eating out of habit, unconscious eating, needs to be evaluated for healthy diets."

Peter Kalafarski does all the grocery shopping and cooking for the family. They have two children - Adam, 11, a student at the Atkinson School, and Emily, 9, a student at the Thompson School. The diet program has affected the whole family.

"Peter drinks only skim milk now and uses Pam, a vegetable oil spray, and cuts down on oil in cooking for all of us," said Mrs. Kalafarski. "He came with me to Health and Diet to learn about food preparation and serving sizes. He learned to cook in college and always liked to cook more than I do."

Mr. Kalafarski liked Ms. Nicosia's approach to his wife's weight loss program. He is pleased to see how his family has learned to make positive decisions about eating. They have learned that nothing is bad in moderation.

"We serve the vegetables first before the meal at dinner time," said Mr. Kalafarski. "The children have fruit every morning. If this becomes their habit, it will be good. A cookie is a treat and not always on the shelf."

Ms. Nicosia encourages eating healthy, maintaining a reasonable weight level and feeling good about it. She wants her clients to think about what they are doing when they eat and wants them to develop a diet they can live with. Mrs. Kalafarski has had a gradual weight loss of one or two pounds each week. She is continuing to lose weight slowly and is thinking about what she eats. Learning about food is learning about food values and how to balance a daily diet.

"I needed someone who made me feel I was doing the right thing nutritionally," said Mrs. Kalafarski. "I never liked those before and after pictures at diet centers, but I liked Mary Ann's positive emphasis on education. I wanted someone who was qualified in the nutrition field, because some diet programs are set up by people who don't have any nutrition background. People should be careful when they decide to diet."

"Many young girls are influenced by pictures in magazines or the movies and television to think they have to be super thin to be pretty," said Mrs. Kalafarski. "They have an unrealistic view of what is a desirable weight. It is more important I am happy, when people say I look good, than the actual pounds I lost."

'Many young girls are influenced by pictures in magazines or the movies and television to think they have to be super thin to be pretty. They have an unrealistic view of what is a desirable weight. It is more important I am happy.'

Leslie Kalafarski

had bone grafts. Ms. Nicosia, of Health and Diet, contacted Mrs. Kalafarski's doctor for an evaluation of the proposed diet and to receive current information on Mrs. Kalafarski's general health.

"I was focused on keeping the program going," said Mrs. Kalafarski. "I'm going to keep this weight off. I have seven more pounds to meet my goal."

The Health and Diet program was designed by Gina Nath, a registered nurse, and Mary Lake, a registered dietitian. The focus is on teaching people how to eat and to incorporate exercise into daily living. Ms. Nicosia has a degree in dietetics from Rivier College, Nashua, N. H., and a master's degree in nutrition from Boston University. She is certified by the American Aerobic and Fitness Association of America to teach aerobics.

Junior All-Stars continue win streak

By Rick Harrison

Joe Sciolla went the distance on the mound and drove in three runs at the plate, as the Andover Junior 13-year-old Little League All-Stars kept rolling along with an impressive 6-2 Bi-District State Tournament quarterfinal round triumph over Salem.

The win was the fourth straight this summer and the ninth in 10 games for this same basic group over the last two years.

They have won a pair of District 14 Tournament championships in two different divisions, Major 11-12 year old in 1991 and Junior 13 this year.

The Andover Junior 13's were scheduled to face

South Shore town Abington in a State Tournament semifinal round contest last Tuesday night in Chelmsford, with Pat Annese (2-0 tourney record) entrusted with the pitching duties.

A win there advances the locals to the State final in Easthampton this Saturday, where they would face either Leicester, Swansea or host Easthampton at 12:30 p.m.

The State champ moves to the Eastern Regionals Aug. 10-15 in Bennington, Vt., and the Junior Little League World Series will be played in Taylor, Mich. Aug. 16-22.

Former AHS pitcher named collegiate all-star

Former Andover High star pitcher and Eastern Mass. Division 1 Player-of-the-Year Chris Eggert, now at Assumption College, has been chosen a Northeastern Collegiate Baseball League All-Star while pitching this summer for Schenectady, N.Y.

The 6'3", 220-pound lefthander, a junior at Assumption, played in the All Star Game at the Little Falls Field and pitched a perfect 1-2-3 seventh inning (flyout, strikeout, popout) for the East.

Eggert entered this week with a 5

2 league record, including four shutouts, and he is currently working on an impressive string of three consecutive shutouts (1-0, 4-0 and 3-0 wins). In those three games he has fanned 19 and hasn't walked a batter.

His earned run average is below 2.00.

The Northeastern Collegiate circuit, a wooden bat league that uses the designated hitter, is just a half-notch below the Cape Cod League in terms of playing talent.

American Legion team posts perfect record

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Post 8 American Legion baseball team tied a state record last week by defeating East Boston 6-3 to complete the regular season with a rare perfect record.

Although numerous other teams across the country have done it through the more than 60 years of Legion ball, an undefeated campaign hasn't been accomplished locally in recent memory and the percentage of teams that finish without a loss is very small.

Andover posted a spectacular 17-0 overall record en route to the Zone 8A title, with homestretch wins over playoff contender Beverly (6-2), Winthrop (3-1), Saugus (13-1), Gloucester (4-0) and East Boston.

Post 8 outscored its 17 opponents by a healthy 102-22 margin.

Andover pitchers racked up five shutouts, held six teams to one run and surrendered more than two runs only twice.

There were few close calls in the 17 games, the only tight scores against Middleton in the season opener (5-3), Peabody (3-2), Lawrence (2-1), Winthrop (3-1) and Salem (5-4).

Post 8 finished first in the Zone 8A standings, and was scheduled to begin its quest for the State title last Tuesday night at home in the opening game of a best-of-3 quarterfinal round series against Natick.

Natick knocked off Sudbury and Reading (4-1) last weekend to earn the Zone 55A-5B wild card spot.

The second game was last night at Natick, and if a third game is needed it is slated for tonight with a coin flip determining the site.

"I thought we deserved something for finishing 17-0, like having the third game of the series at our field, but they told me that's not how it works," said Legion Manager Joe Iarrobino.

Other teams that have qualified for the first round include defending State champion Lowell, Newton, Peabody, Revere and Stoneham.

If Post 8 wins its first series it will

Andover Blue bounces back after Lowell stuns defenders

By Rick Harrison

Andover Blue's hopes of an undefeated season in the Suburban Pony League were shattered last week when Lowell stunned the defending champs, 6-2.

But Blue bounced back smartly to improve to 11-1 overall with victories over North Andover (16-2) and intra-town archrival Andover Gold (11-6).

A scheduled game against Medford was rained out last Thursday. There are no definite plans to make it up because Medford results do not count in the standings.

Blue battled second place Methuen (9-2) last night in a key showdown of last year's playoff finalists, and has a game to make up with Winthrop which leads the other SPL division.

The playoffs are scheduled to begin Saturday, with Blue receiving a first-round bye before moving into a best-of-3 semifinal round series against one of the other three survivors who will come from a group including Methuen, Lowell, Winthrop, Stoneham and Lynnfield.

First round pairings will be determined by overall point total during the regular season.

The championship finals are also best-of-3 and should get underway late next week between the semifinal winners.

Blue welcomed the return of pitcher Justin Connors recently, after he missed seven games with an ankle injury suffered on the basketball court.

Brian Tisbert sprained an ankle against

North Andover last weekend, but returned to the lineup earlier this week against Gold. Lowell, 6-2

First-year team Lowell, which headed down the regular-season homestretch with a strong possibility of finishing third and earning a playoff berth, shocked Blue and halted the defending league champ's nine-game win streak.

The visitors struck for three runs in the top of the first, added a run in the third, and offset a pair of fourth-inning Blue tallies with their final two in the fifth.

The game was called after six innings because of darkness.

Blue notched both its runs without benefit of a hit.

Dana McCann opened the fourth with a walk, but he was quickly erased on Rob Derba's fielder's choice grounder. Derba stole second, took third on a passed ball and scored on another passed ball.

Lowell pitchers then issued four consecutive walks to Tom Gardner, Justin Connors, Hugh Quattlebaum and Brian Tisbert (RBI).

That left Blue with the bases loaded and one out, but the inning ended when Jason Caverly's shot to the mound was turned into a 1-2-3 doubleplay by Lowell hurler Brian Clegg.

Blue managed just three hits in the game, a first inning double by Todd Harris, second inning single by Quattlebaum and

Andover Gold's pitching nearly costs team playoff berth

By Rick Harrison

Pitching continued to be Andover Gold's Achilles Heel as the perennial Suburban Pony League contender dropped three of its most recent five starts and barely missed qualifying for the playoffs.

Gold, which has won four SPL titles in past years, was 6-8 in league play and 7-9 overall with just a home-and-home series left this week against Medford.

Gold hosts Medford tomorrow night at Andover High, and the locals may enter one or two tournaments later in the summer.

The most recent action saw AG defeat the Reading Rockets (7-6) and North Andover Chiefs (6-4), while bowing to Lowell Shedd (6-1), Methuen Police (14-1) and intra-town archrival Andover Blue (11-6).

Blue, Methuen and Lowell finished ahead of Gold in the division standings.

The top three in each division qualify for the playoffs, and that trio will be joined by Winthrop, Stoneham and Lynnfield in post-season play which begins Saturday with quarterfinal round action.

Andover Gold, 7-6

Dave Kelmer's hit-and-run double rescued Dave Salafia with the tying run in the bottom of the seventh, and Kelmer then raced home with the game-winner on a wild pitch, as Gold rallied for two runs in the final inning to nip the Reading Rockets at Andover High.

It marked the second straight year AG scored in the seventh to beat the Rockets.

AG ace Kelmer (5-2), the last of three Gold pitchers, notched the victory with two plus innings of solid relief.

Rick Mendez started on the mound and Brad Batchelder also pitched.

The Rockets jumped to a 4-0 lead with three runs in the second stanza and one in the fourth.

Gold began climbing back in the bottom of the fourth, scoring one run but also having three players thrown out at third base to stymie the rally.

The run came when Paul Auffermann reached on an error, and later tried to score on Mike Mano's single to left field. The throw to the plate beat Aufferman by plenty, but the catcher dropped the ball on the tag.

The Rockets made it 6-1 with two runs in the top of the fifth, but AG countered with four runs in the bottom of the stanza.

Jeff Hesenius walked, Jon Adams clouted an RBI double, Dave Salafia legged out an infield single, Rick Mendez hammered a two-run triple to left field, and Tom Tanin lashed an RBI single to right.

That set the stage for the two-run seventh. Dave Salafia walked, Dave Kelmer doubled with Salafia off-and-running, a wild pickoff throw advanced Kelmer to third, and he scored the game-winner on the wild

Leprechaun 10 - Vynal Disposal 15

The Leprechaun offensive was led by Erika Shiner with five singles, followed by Lindsey Coy and Andrea Cambell with four singles each. Vynal Disposal's offensive was checked by the defensive trio of Julie McCleavan, Maura McDonald, and catcher Erika Shiner.

Blue Jays 10 - Leprechaun 3

Through three innings the score was 2-1 Blue Jays. The Blue Jays' offensive power came from Morgan Jacobsen, Lauren Davis, Cara Chiaraluce and Merinda Pattulo, all hitting doubles. Additional hits came from Daniel Castignetti, Pam Muller and Alexis Contos. The Leprechaun offense was led by Lindsey Coy slamming in a double and two singles, Janice Cappolino's three singles and Siobhan Daniels' two singles. The defensive on both teams was impressive. Leprechaun pitcher Alison Corey made a tremendous catch and two plays to first base. Lindsey Coy contributed on first base, as well as a pop-up catch as shortstop. Blue Jays Katie Witman made the critical third out at second base in the fourth inning with bases loaded to stop a Leprechaun rally. Colleen Bateson at second base and Becky Ambro behind the plate contributed to the Blue Jays' defense. Stephanie Manners pitched a critical shutout inning and Alexis Contos finished the game giving up only one run in the final inning.

Cardinals 15 - Vynal Disposal 8

The Cardinals offense was led by Lindsey Pearson and Rachael Alpert and strong defense by Susan Wood, Catherine Kannam and Christine Sherry were key to the win.

Cardinals 21 - White Sox 8

The Cardinals' offense was led by Mary Cassidy and Lindsey Pearson; Jessica Ostrowski led the defense. Elsa Malmberg, Amanda Beale, Suzanne Zanoni contributed to the hard fought victory.

Cardinals 16 - Yellow Jackets 15

Jessica Ostrowski and Caitlin Dorin provided the Cardinals' batting power. Elsa Malmberg, Jackie Morando and Christine Sherry held back the Yellow Jackets. The strong playing of Allison Glickman, Suzanne Zanoni and Tricia Griffin helped secure the win.

Leprechauns 4 - Blue Jays 2

Andrea Cambell's three doubles and single and Christine Divincenzo's and Elizabeth O'Connell's two singles each were the key to the Leprechauns' win. The Blue Jays' Merinda Pattulo and Cara Chiaraluce each slammed in two doubles, and there was strong batting from Morgan Jacobson and Robin Patti. It was a pitchers' duel with Leprechaun pitchers Marua McDonald (two shutout innings) and Janice Cappolino (one shutout inning) and Blue Jays' Becky Ambro, Meghan Twohig and Merinda Pattulo each with one shutout inning. Allison St. Jean made an outstanding double play to Megan Twohig. Rightfielder Colleen Bateson made a great play for the out to first. Morgan Jacobson was excellent at third and Beibhinn O'Doneghue played strong behind the plate. Leprechaun players Michelle Casey, Julie McCleavan and Siobhan contributed to the win.

Leprechauns 7 - Blue Angles 5

Michelle Casey led the Leprechauns' offense slamming in a home run and a single. Andrea Cambell connected for three singles and Siobhan Daniels hit two singles. Pitcher Michelle Casey did an outstanding job and shortstop Lindsey Coy secured three popups and made two great plays to first for the outs.

Heather Young slammed in 2 home runs and Emily Wegner and Carrie Messina hit 1 home run each. Kristen Wysocki and Julie Valdez each had 3 hits and Cathy Gonzalez 2 hits. The AHS defensive was strong with Carrie Messina pitching 3 shut out innings. Kristie Cunningham caught a line drive to short field to make a double play at 1st base. The solid defensive of Debbie Messina - catcher, Lisa Jayne - centerfield - and Elizabeth Har - second base helped secure the win.

Primary Bruisers - Reds

The Bruisers and Reds played an evenly matched game. The lead changed many times with the Bruisers getting the win in the final inning. Nicole Murphy, Dana Henderson and Jennifer Bronson were hitting stars and Nicki Davis made an excellent defensive play as Bruisers' catcher.

Bruisers vs. Vale Landscaping

The game was close until Vale broke it open late. Bruiser defensive was strong with key plays made by Kate Mullen at second base and Kim Adlman at first. Hitting stars were Marisa Feola and Danielle den Hartog, who played her first game after an injury in practice.

Primary 2

Robins - Red Hot Reds

Both teams played very well during the five-inning game. Robins' Alexa Krieger batted one of the longest hits of this softball season so far. The Red Hot Reds' Emily Parsons played consistently well, covering third base for several keyouts and returning player Laura Stone hit well.

Robins - Kwik Kopy Kids

Tracy Pelletier hit a powerful line drive to the mound, which "bowed over" pitcher-coach Ken Hyde literally and scored a single for the Robins. Caeleigh Stuart-Arsenault, a first-time player, managed a strong line drive past third base on her last up and Christy LeCam was a very strong batter, making several hits. Meredith Fish of the Kwik Kopy Kids batted strongly and Robin Young and Michelle Lahey played excellent and consistent fielding.

Blue defeats Gold as archrivals meet

By Rick Harrison

Righthander Alex Marshall improved his record to 5-0, hanging in tough on the mound, and Andover Blue put together a trio of three-run innings to spark an 11-6 victory over Andover Gold at Doherty Middle School Monday night in the second meeting of intra-town Suburban Pony League archrivals this summer.

Neither game went the full seven-inning distance, Blue prevailing 12-4 in five innings the first time. This game went six before being called by darkness.

The triumph lifted playoff-bound Blue to 11-1 in league play, while Gold leveled off at 6-8 league and 7-9 overall.

Marshall went the distance and yielded seven AG hits, striking out six and walking none.

Gold ace Dave Kelmer (5-2) took the loss, as he and relievers Jeff Hesenius (three innings) and Rick Mendez combined to hand out 13 walks.

Blue jumped ahead 3-0 in the top of the first when Jason Caverly drew a one-out walk. Todd Harris singled, Dana McCann rapped a two-run single, and he later scored followed two more walks and a hit batsman.

Gold came right back with three runs in the bottom of the first to tie it 3-3.

Dave Salafia drilled a one-out single, Dave Kelmer reached on a fielder's choice, erasing Salafia, and immediately stole second base. Rick Mendez was hit by a Marshall pitch. Tom Tanin laced an RBI single, and Paul Auffermann clouted a two-run double to left-center.

Blue struck for three more and a 6-3 lead in the second.

Once again Caverly walked and stole second. Todd Harris walked, McCann belted a two-run triple to left field, Brian fifth inning single by Alex Marshall.

Blue also left the bases loaded in the first inning after a walk to Caverly, double by Harris and walk to Marshall. There was one out at the time, but the next two batters popped up to end the threat.

Jason Caverly, who relieved starter Justin Connors in the third, pitched four innings of three-hit ball. He struck out four and walked two.

Defensively Hugh Quattlebaum made several nice catches in left field.

Blue, 16-2

Blue returned to its winning ways with a vengeance following the Lowell loss, taking out their frustrations on the North Andover Chiefs.

The winners erupted for 12 runs in the first three innings, including five in the first, three in the second and four in the third frame. The final four came in the seventh.

Three pitchers shared the duties, combining for a four-hitter and 13 strikeouts.

Justin Connors (3-1) went the first three innings and registered the victory, allowing two hits and fanning four. Alex Marshall worked the next two, also yielding two hits and whiffing four.

Dana McCann mopped up in the sixth and seventh, retiring six straight batters and setting five of them down on strikes.

McCann also slapped three singles and lofted a sacrifice fly for three RBI, while Marshall contributed a triple, double and three ribbies.

Todd Harris had a busy morning with two singles, two RBI and four runs scored.

Rob Derba doubled, singled and drove in two runs while Tim McGovern, Chris Kearn and Connors laced two singles apiece.

Andover Gold, 6-4

Manager Dan Grams' Gold crew erased a 1-0 first-inning deficit with all six of its runs and all five hits in the third stanza, then held on as the North Andover Chiefs rallied for three runs in the seventh.

Dave Kelmer worked the first 6.1 innings on the mound, yielding just three hits and fanning three. He kept himself in constant trouble, however, by issuing eight walks.

Rick Mendez was summoned in relief with one out in the seventh, and he retired the last two batters to preserve the win for Kelmer.

In the AG third Andy Henderson singled, Dave Salafia doubled, Kelmer ripped an RBI single, Mendez walked, Tom Tanin walked to load the bases, Mike Mano laid down a suicide squeeze bunt, Tom Boutureia beat out an infield hit to score a run, and Jeff Hesenius capped the uprising with a three-run double.

Defensively for Gold, center fielder

Dave Salafia gunned down a runner at home and Tanin had four assists.

Lowell, 6-1

First-year league entry Lowell officially knocked Gold out of the playoff picture in this game, grabbing a 3-0 lead and then breaking open a tight contest with three more runs in the top of the seventh.

Righthander Rick Mendez was the hard-luck loser for Gold, tossing a complete-game five hitter while striking out six and walking only two.

Six AG errors made all six Lowell runs unearned.

The lone Andover run came in the bottom of the sixth at Andover High when Dave Salafia reached on an error, took third on Kelmer's single and crossed on a Mendez sacrifice fly to center field.

Gold left two runners aboard in both the fifth and seventh innings.

Salafia, Dave Kelmer and Tom Boutureia slapped two singles apiece for Gold, and Paul Aufferman was a defensive standout at third base.

Lowell teams have jinxed Andover in recent years at several levels. In addition to this win over Gold, Lowell spoiled Andover Blue's perfect season.

Lowell High also handed two-time reigning State Division 1 champ Andover two of its three losses the past two years.

Methuen, 14-1

Andover Gold fell behind early in this game and never got it together, Methuen scoring once in the first, five times in the second, three times in the fourth and five times in the sixth at the Pelham Street Field.

Gary Sweatt was the winning hurler, working five innings of three-hit ball while striking out six and walking one.

Dave Salafia, Paul Aufferman, Brad Batchelder and Dan Gosselin shared the mound duties for AG.

The lone Gold run came in the fourth as Auffermann belted an opposite-field triple to right, the ball hitting the fence on the first bounce, and Rick Mendez followed with a one-out RBI double.

Tom Tanin and Jon Adams contributed one single apiece for the locals, while defensively Gosselin made a nice play on a liner to the mound and Keith Grant was a standout both at catcher and in left field.

Salem," said 13's Manager Bill Vickers. "We made all the big plays defensively, including turning a pair of doubleplays, and once again we didn't get caught throwing the ball around."

"Every time an opponent makes a mistake we've been able to capitalize," continued Vickers. "At this level it seems like the team that wins is the one that steals the most bases and gets the timely basehits."

"Salem was a scary team to look at. They were huge, with three or four kids as tall as Joe Sciollo and 20-30 pounds heavier. But Joe took care of them."

Andover, 6-2

Joe Sciollo (2-0) weathered a shaky first inning and was strong the rest of the way, as Andover ousted District 15-16 champion Salem at Volunteer Field in Chelmsford.

Salem, which had beaten Swampscott 5-2 for the right to face Andover, threw a pair of no-hitters earlier in the tournament but did not have its ace (Kevin Benoit) available for this game.

It would have taken an excellent effort to beat Sciollo anyway, as the righthander tossed a four-hitter, walked four and whiffed two. He pitched three-hit shutout ball over the final six innings.

Salem hurler Jeff Parsons went the distance, surrendering 11 hits while fanning three, walking four and hitting one batter (Sciollo).

Two walks by Sciollo and a two-run single from Parsons gave Salem a quick 2-0 lead in the top of the first.

Undefeated District 14 champion Andover bounced back with a run in the home half, however, when Marc O'Sullivan drew a one-out walk, stole second and raced across on Mark Tropeano's two-out single.

A three-run fourth gave Andover a lead it never relinquished.

Pat Annese started the rally with a single, stole second, and moved to third on O'Sullivan's single to right field. Sciollo helped himself with a two-out, two-run single to left, and consecutive singles by Brian King and Jeremy Schofield chased Sciollo across.

In the fifth Al Kwon singled, stole second and third, and scored when Sciollo dropped a perfect suicide squeeze bunt for his third RBI.

The final run came in the sixth as Annese laid down a one-out bunt single, stole second and third, and trotted home on Al Kwon's single.

Andover left the bases loaded in the stanza, a second suicide squeeze attempt by Sciollo aborted when Parsons hit him with a pitch.

Salem threatened in the fourth and fifth frames.

In the fourth there were runners at first and second with one out, but a crisp 1-4-3 doubleplay from pitcher Sciollo to second baseman O'Sullivan to first baseman Annese ended the bid.

In the fifth Annese chased down an overthrow in right field and gunned down a Salem runner at the plate, catcher Jason Monarca applying the tag.

Annese, Al Kwon, Sciollo and King paced the 11-hit Andover attack with two singles apiece.

Defensive standouts included right fielder Jeremy Schofield and catcher Monarca.

Schofield made a shoestring catch of a sinking liner in the sixth and doubled a Salem runner off base.

Monarca ended the game by catching a pair of foul popups in the seventh, one a diving grab and the second straight back near the backstop.

American Legion posts perfect record

move to a second best-of-3 set almost immediately, the games scheduled for Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The double-elimination State Tournament begins later next week in Chicopee, with seven qualifiers and the host team vying for top honors in Massachusetts.

Nine members of the Legion squad were also on this year's Andover High State Division 1 champion, and seven of those nine played on both Golden Warrior title teams.

In the last two years "The Magnificent Seven" have been on two high school and two Legion teams with a combined worst record of 80-9.

"We've received great pitching all season," noted Manager Iarrobino. "The team ERA is 0.42, Jimmy Hanning didn't allow an earned run in 29 innings, while Justin (Hesenius) and Mike (Kinnon) have both pitched 34 innings and have earned run averages of 0.66 and 0.53."

"We've only gone to relief pitchers three or four times all season, and kids like Matt Marvin (before he suffered an ankle injury), Todd Murray (1-0) and Jeff Lembo have come through when needed," said Iarrobino.

"We haven't hit quite as well as I expected. The team batting average is .290. Chris Lembo is hitting .435, Hesenius is just under .400, Matt Wolcott and Brian Flanagan around .350, Mike Daley and Sully (Mike Sullivan) around .320."

"Matt Daniels has contributed some clutch hits, Bobby Sheehan is getting on base alot as the leadoff man, and we can do a lot of things with Jimmy Landry in terms of bunting and running when he's at the plate."

"We don't strike out a lot. Our guys put the ball in play," said Iarrobino.

'It's the end of an era' as Haverhill breaks Andover Major All-Star's stranglehold

By Rick Harrison

TEWKSBURY — One bad inning and a hard-throwing Haverhill righthander named Alex Hakesley combined to break Andover Little League's stranglehold on the Major 11-12 year old Division of the District 14 All-Star Tournament last week-end.

"It's the end of an era," lamented former league president Bill Novel-line.

Andover teams had won the division six straight years, the Nationals from 1986-88 and the Americans from 1989-91. The six championship teams had posted a 29-2 won-lost record over that stretch, and the 1988 Nationals added Bi-District, State and Regional titles en route to the World Series in Williamsport, Pa. where they finished as the sixth best Little League team on the planet.

This year the three-time defending champion Americans tried to do it the hard way, falling into the loser's bracket right away and then making a long, arduous seven-game climb out of obscurity and into the final round with undefeated Haverhill.

The last of the seven victories was a gem, as Matt Mahoney fired a three-hit shutout and struck out 15 in a 2-0 eight-inning triumph over the same Chelmsford Lupien team that put Andover in the loser's bracket 4-2 back in the July 6 opener.

Last Sunday Hakesley and Haverhill struck early and then put on a survival clinic en route to a crown-clinching 4-2 triumph at Poulin Field in Tewksbury.

Haverhill pushed across its four runs in the bottom of the first, two of them unearned, and then let staff ace Hakesley (3-0) do the rest.

The big flamethrower, whose previous two tourney starts were impressive shutout wins over Andover National (5-0) and Lowell Callery (2-0 in seven innings), limited Andover American to four singles and fanned 10.

He got stronger as the game progressed, allowing just one hit and two baserunners in the final three innings while whiffing five of the last six batters.

But Manager Jim Sandison's Americans did themselves proud, closing with a 7-2 ledger and setting a District 14 record for victories that will be hard to match or surpass.

The expansion of the 17-team tourney to double-elimination throughout made the record of seven victories possible. No other team had ever won more than six games in District 14 play.

The list of Andover American victims included Lawrence Tower Hill (8-3), Tewksbury American (4-2), South Lawrence East (4-2), Billerica National (11-0), Billerica American (6-0), Tewksbury National (3-1) and Chelmsford Lupien.

In its last six games the locals allowed the opposition to score in only three of the 38 innings. The pitchers threw 35 shutout innings and permitted only five runs in the final 37 innings of tournament play.

Haverhill, a perfect 5-0 in the tourney with a wide 43-13 scoring edge on the opposition, advances to Bi-District play where it will face repeat District 13 champion Arlington National at Weafer Park in Woburn this Saturday.

Arlington National ousted Andover American 6-4 in Bi-District play last year.

The Haverhill-Arlington survivor then moves to the four-team State Tournament in Sloughon Aug. 7-8.

This is the first-ever District 14 Major Little League championship for Haverhill.

Andover American, 2-0 (8 innings)

Righthander Matt Mahoney, who finished the tourney with a 4-0 record and two shutouts, was brilliant as the Americans avenged their opening 4-2 loss to Chelmsford Lupien.

He allowed just three singles, one a bunt and another a blooper, fanned 15, walked only four and threw 117 pitches.

Only one Chelmsford runner advanced beyond second base, and in the last four innings Mahoney faced just 14 batters and struck out eight. He whiffed at least one Lupien hitter in every inning except the first, and fanned the side in the second and third stanzas.

For the tournament Mahoney pitched 25 innings, yielding 14 hits and three runs while walking 14 and striking out 39.

Matt tossed 21 consecutive scoreless innings, the final two against Tower Hill, five against South Lawrence East after relieving injured Rob Oppenheim (finger blister), six more in a 6-0 win over Billerica American and eight against Lupien.

Mahoney had to be that good, however, as Chelmsford's Jamie Gendron was also in rare form.

The stocky little righthander worked seven shutout innings before tiring in the eighth. He permitted nine hits, four of them in succession to open the eighth, fanned 10, walked only one and threw 103 pitches.

Because of Gendron's exceptional control, Andover didn't get a runner beyond first base until the seventh.

Ryan Hanigan had a two-out infield hit in the second, Dan Lombard a two-out single in the third, Doug Henderson a two-out single in the fourth, and Jeff Davis a leadoff single in the fifth.

Lupien managed baserunners in each of the first four innings on walks and a bloop single to the opposite field by John Littlefield, but they failed to mount a serious scoring threat.

In the Andover seventh Hanigan drew a two-out walk and Davis lined his second sharp single, but Gendron whiffed the next batter on three quick pitches.

Adam Espinola opened the eighth by beating out a bunt single, Danny Lombard followed with a crisp single to center, and the visibly struggling Gendron then yielded consecutive

Blue defeats intra-town archrival

Tisbert walked, Tom Gardner walked to load the bases, and Tim McGovern walked to force home a run.

In the Blue third Caverly reached a third straight time when he was hit by a pitch, stole second and scoored on a Harris single. Harris then stole second and trotted across on Marshall's base hit to make it 8-3.

Gold retaliated with one run in the bottom of the third as Salafia singled, Kelmer singled and Salafia crossed on Rick Mendez's fielder's choice.

It remained 8-4 until the sixth.

Tisbert opened a three-run uprising with a walk, Gardner singled, all runners were safe when Tim McGovern laid down a bunt that loaded the bases. George Saccarelli's infield out rescued one run, and an error on Jason Ceverly's grounder made it 11-4.

Gold's final two runs came in the bottom of the sixth when Tanin was safe on an error. Aufferman lashed an RBI triple to right field, and Tom Boutureia slapped a run-scoring single to wrap it up.

Blue only had six hits.

Dana McCann tripled and singled for three RBI, Tom Harris laced two singles, and other base hits came from Alex Marshall and Tom Gardner.

Defensively for Blue shortstop Todd Harris ranged behind the second base bag to rob Tom Boutureia of a basehit, Tim McGovern was sharp at third base and catcher Rob Derba gunned down a Gold runner at third.

'It's the end of an era' for Majors

RBI singles up the middle to Jeff Cutler and Rob Oppenheim to snap the scoreless tie.

With one out Doug Henderson was hit by a pitch from reliever Brian Kleynon, loading the bases, but a popout and strikeout kept Andover American from breaking it wide open.

Scott Wilson launched the Chelmsford eighth with a single and he became the first Lupien runner to touch third after a passed ball and wild pitch.

But Mahoney, with his shutout streak in jeopardy, closed the game with a flourish on two strikeouts and a popup to the mound.

Seven different players contributed hits to the balanced A-A attack, Danny Lombard and Jeff Davis leading the way with two apiece.

With 15 strikeouts there wasn't much for the Americans' defense to do, but scrappy catcher Ryan Hanigan played well behind the plate.

Haverhill, 4-2
(Championship Round)

Overshadowed in the loss to Haverhill was a gritty complete-game pitching performance by Andover American curveballer Doug Henderson, and a superb defensive effort by hustling second baseman Danny Lombard.

Righthander Henderson shook off the nightmarish first inning nicely. He permitted six singles, three of them infield hits, struck out five, walked three and threw 78 pitches. Only two of the Haverhill runs were earned.

Henderson won three games in the tournament, permitting only three runs and tossing a three-hit shutout against Billerica National.

In 24 innings he surrendered 20 hits and seven runs, walking seven and whiffing 18.

Lombard started the first of two American doubleplays with a nice running catch in shallow center field, whirling to nail a runner off first, and for the game handled four chances flawlessly.

Andover American

actually drew first blood with an unearned run in the opening stanza.

Leadoff batter Danny Lombard grounded to second base, but reached safely when the Haverhill fielder couldn't dig the ball out of his glove.

Ryan Hanigan followed with a bunt single and, although fireballer Alex Hakesley fanned the side, Lombard scored after a passed ball and wild pitch.

In a bottom of the first that could have come straight from a Stephen King novel, the horror show opened with an infield single to shortstop by Tony Olenio.

Eric Pratt walked and then Hakesley hit a sharp one-hopper to Matt Mahoney at third base. He tagged the bag, forcing Olenio, and gunned a throw across the diamond trying for a doubleplay.

The ball glanced off the first baseman's glove, however, allowing Pratt to score and Hakesley to end up at second. A wild pitch moved him to third base, and Scooter Hebert's single to centerfield put Haverhill ahead 2-1.

'It's the end of an era' for Majors

Andy Alsop, son of Andover High assistant football and track coach Glen Alsop, walked before a Matt Schena singled down the right field line rescued Hebert.

With runners at first and third, Haverhill made it 4-1 when Schena bluffed a dash to second and Alsop scored as catcher Ryan Hanigan's throw went through to the base.

Haverhill did not score again and threatened just one more time, loading the bases in the third on a single by Hakesley, infield hit by Alsop and walk to Schena. Jason Porro then slapped a one-hopper to Henderson at the mound, starting an crisp 1-2-3 doubleplay capped by Hanigan's hard, accurate throw to first.

Andover loaded the bases in the second when Jeff Sandison reached on an infield error, Adam Espinola drew the first of his two four-pitch walks, and pesky Danny Lombard drilled a single to left field.

Hanigan then hit a ground ball on the nose, but it went to directly to Haverhill second baseman Eric Pratt to end the inning.

In the Americans' third Rob Oppenheim singled, Matt Mahoney reached on a fielder's choice erasing Oppenheim, Doug Henderson walked on a 3-2 pitch, Scott Shainker's infield out advanced the runners, and Mahoney raced across on a ball four passed ball as Jeff Sandison walked.

The inning ended with Sandison tagged out in a rundown before Henderson could score from third.

Hakesley was in control the rest of the way, yielding only a one-out walk to Espinola in the fourth and a two-out single to Jeff Cutler to keep things alive briefly in the sixth.

Catcher Ryan Hanigan, with three assists to go with five putouts, joined Danny Lombard as the defensive standouts.

John Call looks over design plans at recent work site.

Home Energy Consultants

If you are planning some remodeling work or an addition to your home, Home Energy Consultants is the firm to call. In business since 1978, Home Energy Consultants can design the plans and do the building. John Call, the proprietor of the business, has 17 years' experience in the construction industry and uses that knowledge to create cost saving and energy efficient designs.

Every job, from a minor repair to a major addition, receives the same care and attention from Home Energy Consultants. A satisfied customer is their biggest asset. By handling small jobs with competence and professionalism, Home Energy Consultants wins their customers' respect and trust and is remembered when that customer has a larger project in mind. They handle leaky roofs, rotted trim, broken windows, rotten porches, as well as decks, sun rooms or larger additions.

All design work for Home Energy Consultants is done in-house, so plans and estimates are completed quickly and professionally. Their expertise is in the design and building of energy-efficient structures. By using more insulation, locating window areas appropriately and by studying room orientation, Home Energy Consultants can complete a design which will take advantage of any natural energy sources and reduce dependency on costly fossil fuels.

Careful attention to the needs of the customer is a hallmark of Home Energy Consultants' work. The goal of the designs is to "minimize the homeowners' operating costs while keeping the project within their budget." By using the latest techniques and building materials, John Call meets the goal and wins the confidence and loyalty of his customers.

Legion Post 8 and Junior All-Stars post wins in State Tourney play Tuesday night

The Andover Post 8 American Legion and Andover Junior 13-year-old Little League All-Star baseball teams were both victorious in State Tournament play Tuesday night.

Undefeated lefthander Jim Hanning improved to 6-0 with the Legion, and 20-0 this year including high school, as he fired a three-hit shutout and fanned nine in Post 8's opening 4-0 victory over Natick at Andover High.

Andover, 18-0, scored two unearned runs in the first on throwing errors and added an RBI single by Justin Hesenius in the third and solo home run by Chris Lembo (his third) in the seventh.

Bobby Sheehan and Hesenius had two hits each while Matt Daniels and Hanning added singles. Hanning has now pitched 80 consecutive innings without allowing an earned run.

The Junior 13-year-olds won their fifth straight tournament game, beating Abington 9-5 in a State semifinal at Volunteer Field in Chelmsford.

The Eastern Mass. Junior League Champions now travel to Easthampton on Saturday for a 12:30 p.m. State final against the host team.

Saturday's winner advances to the Northeast Regionals in Bennington, Vt. next week.

Against Abington, winning pitcher Pat Annese (3-0) scattered seven hits and fanned five in a route-going performance. Andover broke open a 4-3 game with four runs in the bottom of the fourth. Marc O'Sullivan stroking a two-run single while Al Kwon and Brian King had RBI baschits.

Al Kwon, King and Joe Sciolla finished with two hits each, while Mark Tropeano added a two-run single.

Road race named for Andover woman benefits cancer research fund

Sheila Brodie Zetlan of Andover died in April of 1990 at the age of 42 from breast cancer. She was the mother of two children. The Sheila Brodie Zetlan Breast Cancer Research Foundation was established in her memory for the purpose of raising money for breast cancer research.

The first annual Sheila Brodie Zetlan Breast Cancer Research Foundation 10K Memorial Road Race took place in September 1991. The race raised more than $17,000 and enabled the trustees to make their first foundation grant in January 1992 in the amount of $23,500 to Dr. Stephanie F. Williams, assistant professor of medicine at the University of Chicago Medical Center.

The second annual Sheila Brodie Zetlan Breast Cancer Research Foundation 10K Memorial Road Race will be held Sunday, Sept. 13 in Andover. A portion of the proceeds will be donated to the new Holy Family Hospital Cancer Center in Methuen.

Through this donation the hospital will be able to purchase a breast wedge filter. The breast wedge filter tray is an attachment that can be fitted to the state of the art, 18 Mev new linear accelerator radiation treatment machine. This will greatly facilitate the precise treatment of breast cancer patients and reduce their treatment time. This new gadget will help give uniform dosage to the breast without skin reaction and excellent cosmetic results. The foundation has raised more than $54,000 since it was established in June 1990.

The TAC-sanctioned race is open to runners and walkers of all levels. Preregistration fee is $10; day of race entrance fee is $15. For further information, call Edward Kutchin at 475-4394.

Lowell State Senator Nancy Achin Sullivan and runner Joan Benoit Samuelson will cochair the event.

Local teams play softball for Easter Seals

Sixty-three local teams will play softball in the Easter Seal softball games this weekend at Livingston Street Fields in Tewksbury. They join thousands of softball players playing throughout Massachusetts in the 15th annual Games sponsored by Marshalls and WLVI TV56.

Andover teams on the Easter Seal roster include Children's World Learning Center, Dyonics and Vicor on Saturday, Aug. 8, and Crusader Paper Co. and Raytheon on Sunday, Aug. 9.

Proceeds from the Easter Seal softball games support swim programs, summer camp, equipment loan, stroke support groups, physical, occupational and speech therapy, technology for independence and home health care for disabled children and adults.

There's still time to sign up, according to Easter Seal representative Jania Andreotti. For information, call the Lawrence Easter Seal office at 683-1259.

Samaritan Tennis Tournament to be held in August

The 11th annual Samaritan Tennis Tournament, the oldest open net tourney in the Merrimack Valley, will be held the weekend of Aug. 21-23 at the Willows Racquet and Fitness Center at 815 Turnpike Road (Rte. 114) in North Andover.

The tournament, which is open to the general public, will benefit the Samaritans of the Merrimack Valley (24-hour suicide prevention and befriending service).

There will be two divisions for both men's and women's singles, arranged according to talent level, with the A Division for advanced players and the B Division for intermediate players.

There will also be men's, women's and mixed doubles with participants limited to one singles and one doubles event.

The entry fee is $25 for singles and $30 per doubles team.

Entry forms are available at most local sporting goods stores, tennis clubs or from the Samaritans, 169 East St., Methuen.

For further information call the Samaritans at 688-6612 or tournament director Joe Ruggieri at 686-5013.

Women's Rugby Club survives downfalls

The Merrimack Valley Women's Rugby Club (MVWRC) has tackled numerous obstacles and survived countless injuries since the fall of 1988.

The young club aspires to place in the top four in New England (presently fifth).

The MVWRC placed fourth in the New England Rugby Football Union tournament in and first in the Hartford Women's tourney last year. The rugers also came in third in the Boston Women's Rugby tournament, the largest women's seven's competition in the country.

The Lowell-based team competes against the 1991 national champs, the Beantown Women's Rugby Club, and teams from Hartford, Conn., Portland, Maine, and Albany, N.Y. They also play college teams (Radcliffe, Boston College and University of New Hampshire).

The MVWRC meets for practice on Wednesday and Friday evenings and competes on Saturdays. The season begins in August through October and starts up again in March.

Anyone interested in challenging their athletic skills on the rugby field should contact Ms. Matte at 452-3080 or Beth Barnhill at (617) 861-0903.

Wondering where your refund is?

Has it been eight weeks since you filed your return or four weeks if it was filed electronically?

If you answered yes to either of these questions, you can call IRS' Tele-Tax System (Automated Refund Information) at 1-800-829-4477.

To get the status of your refund, have your social security number, filing status and exact amount of refund ready.

The Tele-Tax system is updated weekly.

Refund delays may be caused by a variety of reasons. The most common is the social security number and name mismatch.

The last name and social security number of the taxpayer must be the same as on last year's return or the return will be delayed a minimum of one week for rematching.

If your return required rematching, you will be sent a notice of verification which must be filled out and returned to the service center before the refund can be released.

Once the information is received, the IRS will process it and mail your check.

Patricia L. Ford, 11 Keystone Way, Andover, MA 01810
D. Ford, 70 Kennedy Road, Tewksbury, MA 01876 and to all persons entitled to the benefit of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940 as amended.

Whereas, The Family Mutual Savings Bank, 153 Merrimack Street, Haverhill, MA 01830, claiming to be the holder of a mortgage covering real property situated at 11 Keystone Way, Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, as more fully described in said mortgage given by Lewis H. ## Recycle

DO YOU HAVE an item or items that you no longer need, but that would be useful to someone else, something you'd be willing to give away if someone would come get it? For instance: boxes, storm windows, a child's bicycle, cardboard boxes, an old set of dishes. You can list your recyclable items in the Townsman's newest classified section: "RECYCLE" (FREE of charge)! It's a way to clean up your place while acknowledging the world is running out of landfill space. Simply write us listing your recyclables and we'll print them in the paper. No phone calls please.

Best of all, if rates should increase, Andover Bank guarantees the rate won't go above the rate offered when you applied.

So don't delay your application process simply because you think rates may go down. Apply now and our Rate Lock/Re-Lock option will provide you with the guarantee of a lower rate.

Board votes to balance bill ambulance service

By Don Staruk

Selectmen voted recently to bill residents the portion of an ambulance fee not covered by Medicaid or other insurance, to avoid having a problem with the federal government.

Fire Chief Harold Hayes brought up the matter of a potential problem with the ambulance billing in June. The warning was relayed from the Office of Inspector General of the Department of Health and Human Services.

The town, through its billing agency, Comstar, bills the full amount of ambulance service, but does not chase residents if there is a balance due. While most insurance companies pay the full amount, Medicare requires a 20 percent co-payment from patients, which the town currently absorbs.

But the federal government has begun a crackdown on that policy, and last year began investigating a number of towns in the state which don't "balance bill" for services.

After a review of the current billing procedure, and of the government's investigation, Thomas Urbelis, town counsel, warned the board at its June meeting that the routine waiver of the balance is a violation of the law, and that the town had better start balance billing as soon as possible. The federal government could demand repayment of the 20 percent balance and, in a worst case scenario, could go for repayment of the entire amount of all Medicare payments because they will have been fraudulently billed, according to Mr. Urbelis.

Selectmen were resistant to the idea of billing residents for ambulance service, especially James Barenboim and Bill Downs, who thought the service should be covered by taxes.

Costs of service

An ambulance run costs $170-$180, according to Chief Hayes. Ambulance service produced $152,497 in revenue for the town last year, about 32 percent of which, or $48,738, was Medicare payments. The balance was from other insurance collections.

Medicare pays 80 percent of the approved amount, leaving an average balance of $29.24, according to the chief.

"For 1991, this would amount to $12,660.92 additional revenue if 100 percent of that was collected," Chief Hayes said.

Health Maintenance Organization insurance carriers, and Blue Cross Master Medical Plus, pay 100 percent of ambulance bills.

Three-car automobile accident

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in a three-car crash on River Road last Friday afternoon. Chad Sirois, 12, of Shirley Ave., Methuen, was taken to Lawrence General Hospital with serious injuries. He was the passenger in a car driven by his father, Robert Sirois, 43, who had minor visible injuries. Concetta Debella, 68, of Belmont, operator of one car, complained of pain and Donna Streight, 38, of Derry, N.H., a passenger in Ms. Debella's car, had minor visible injuries. Both women were taken to Lawrence General Hospital. Daren Blandin, 33, of Berlin, Mass., driver of the third car, was not injured. The younger Sirois was not wearing a seat belt, according to police. All other parties were wearing seat belts.
